TURUS OF THE BEE. THE TRIPLE-HEADED COALITION The article that follows, for which we are indebted to the Boaton Dully Advertiser, discusses the triple coalition between the Free-Soilers, Abolitionists and Locofocos, whose professed ofect is to break down the Administration of "President Taylog, the Southern slaveholder",
We cannot but rejoice that this base and disterritory within her been signally rebuked in MAGNE & WEISSE.

The Coalition. The Great political question of the day, on the control of which apparently depend, more than a may other event, the future destinies of the country, is, what will be the result of the double country and the country of the double country of the day, on the double country of the day of the day of the day of the day of the double country of the double country of the day of the day of the double country of the day of the parties opposed to the Administration. The object of this attempted coalition is to break down the present Administration, for the purpose of founding a new party on its ruins. All other political questions are, for the present, almost in abeyance, from the relaince which is placed by the Democratic, the Abolition, and the Free-Soul parties, on the combined effort which they are now making to overthrow the Wing party. The indifference with which principles, hitherto attenuously adheted to by the member of these natives among the now the properties.

of stones, and finished by fire-arms, with which quite a number of the mob appeared to be armed.

The houses in the neighborhood sustained considerable damage, and at half past 6 o'clock, as the police were unable to quell the site, the bells were rang for fire. The department turned out in goodly numbers, and with horses attached to their machines passed through and exparated the crowd and finelly dispersed them. Arrests to the number of fifteen were made by the police. A lerse number of persons were more or lees. A lerse number of persons were more or lees wounded. A young boy who took no part in the row, not was drawn thither through cutioosity, was shot with a slog which passed completely through his body, in the region of the someth, and is probably, ere this dead, as the physician stated that he could not possibly live.

During the night, guns were discharged about the city, but this morning all appeared to be quiet. The military during the evening were at their different armoties, in case their services should be needed; but the business of dispersing in the horse of dispersing in the fire companies.—Boston Trae.
