But we have lew fears of the South at the momentous juncture. The public sentiment of nine-tenths of the critizens will rebuke the opinion of Mr. Calmory, and simple it as a caluminy upon the slave-holding part of the community. The people of the South, or far-from regarding disenton as "inevitable," look comfedently for an honeyable and, triendity compromise of existing difficulties, by which the links that bind. State to State will be rendered atronger than adomant. So far from echoung the goilty administration of the description of the state of the description of the state of the description ble," they would consider such an appalling consummation as a brasting evidence of Almighty wrath, and would contemplate it as the first of those huge downward leaps by which nations are precipitated from prosperity and power, to feebleness, degredation and contempt. Thus believing the South stands prepared to support the Union, even while exacting due respect for her untoward rights. She is not to be driven out of the Union, but will maintain and uphold it, in a slices integrity, and with all its guarantees.

We return our danks to the Hon Cverkins Decorate, of the Senate, for his attenion in the mines of Siberia and forterses, or incorporated in the ranks of the army for longer or shorter terms.
