[No. 60.]
EXECUTIVE OFFICE.
BATON ROUGE, March 18, 1850.

To the Senate:

It appears that in the month of January, 1849, a slave named Ned, the property of E. P. Kennedy, was convicted of setting fire to the police jail of the borough of Freeport, where he was confined and sentenced to two years imprisonment in the penitentiary. The owner of said slave has applied for a pardon, predicated on a statement of facts to be found in the accompanying petition. This statement, it appears, has been approved by the two judges who presided at the trial, and who, in addition, affirm that they see no reason why the pardon should not be granted; it further appears that many irregularities occurred at the trial, both from the statement of the District Attorney who prosecuted and the bills of exception reserved by the counsel for the accused and herewith transmit. Now, therefore, if the Senate consent, I will grant a pardon to the said slave Ned, to be delivered into the possession of his master.

(Signed,) JOSEPH WALKER.

[No. 61.]

EXECUTIVE OFFICE.
BATON ROUGE, 20th March, 1850.

To the Senate:

Whereas, on the 24th day of June, 1848, Dick, a slave, the property of David Moseley, in the parish of St. Tammany, was convicted by a jury of freeholders and two Justices, of the crime of murder, on the person of a slave named Ben, and sentenced to death, which said conviction and sentence were affirmed by the Supreme Court on appeal; and whereas, my predecessor in office thought proper, on the 6th day of June, 1849, to grant a reprieve to the said slave Dick, with a view of consulting the mercy of the Senate on a measure of commutation of punishment; which message, however, my predecessor unintentionally omitted to include in the general message of reprieves granted in the session, and transmitted by him to the Senate at an early period of its session; and whereas, the recommendation on which said reprieve, as I am informed, was granted, has since lost or mislaid; and whereas, the Second Representing the Senatorial District which includes the parish of St. Tammany, and in whose gun are inclosed for particular consideration, has had notice of a petition, recently and numerously signed by citizens of said parish, praying in this case for a commutation of the punishment, which said petition has not yet reached this office: Now, therefore, if the Senate consent, I will grant a commutation of the punishment of the said Dick, from death to perpetual imprisonment in the penitentiary.
