MASSACHUSETTS AND SOUTH CAROLINA.

The slavery excitement which, not many months since, created such an uproar throughout the land, is well night spent. Except in Massachusetts and South Carolina, the two extremes of antagonistical doctrines, we scarcely hear the dying murmur of the storm which erewhile howled so fiercely and furiously around us. Elsewhere it roars as gently as a "sucking dove." Even in Mississippi its violence has been lulled to the soothing softness of a zephyr, while in Alabama, it has not strength enough to stir a leaflet.

This is a state of fact which was predicted by every friend of the Compromise, when that salutary measure was adopted. The disunionists per se and the ultraists who were anxious to keep up agitation from little else than a restless spirit of mischief, labored earnestly enough to prevent the public mind from resuming its wonted tranquility. On the one hand, the Abolitionists declaimed violently against the Fugitive Slave Law, and sought to bring about its organized resistance to it, while on the other the Southern fire-eaters abused the law as a nullity and a humbug, and endeavored to convince the owners of slaves that there was no safety for them, except in getting out of the Union as fast as they could.

Time and the strong common sense and patriotism of the people have rebuked both sets of the agitators. The efforts of the Abolitionists to call for the sacrifice of fugitive slaves everywhere, save in the republican soil of Boston,—the exertions of the Disunionists to disseminate their atrocious and pernicious doctrines have utterly failed, save in the unbridled and discontented Commonwealth of South Carolina. Everywhere else the adjustment of the slavery controversy is regarded with favor, and communities vie with each other in the firmness and alacrity with which they yield obedience to the law.

We take it, that with Massachusetts and South Carolina on one side, and the United States on the other, the issue cannot be doubtful. Numerous as the Abolitionists are in the Bay State, they are not strong enough to cope even with those citizens of that State who are determined to enforce the execution of the Statute—much less with the forces which the Executive will assuredly despatch against them, upon the next intraction, and, though South Carolina be nearly unanimous in the assertion of the wretched and suicidal policy of Secession, her folly and madness will hardly proceed to the extremity of an open rupture, when she perceives that she stands alone, and will have to bear the brunt of the awful experiment, without the aid of her sister communities. It is a very easy matter to argue abstractly upon the right of a State to withdraw from the Union; and Constitutional hair-splitters may persuade themselves that they have erected a bulwark of unassailable logic, but it is with such notions, as it was with the doctrine of peaceful nullification—beautiful in theory, but utterly false and impracticable. Massachusetts in the end will find that it is impossible to set at defiance the laws of the land, and South Carolina will discover that her bantling or Secession is no remedy at all, but will prove a decided humbug. We have no fear, however, that she will push the experiment far enough to ascertain the result.

NEW BOOKS.—Our thanks are due Harper & Brothers, publishers, through J. B. STEEL, No. 14 Camp street, for the following new publications:

Wallace, A Franconia Story. This is a continuation of the admirable series of tales for children, commenced by Mr. Abbott, under the title of Mallefaire.

London Labor and the London Poor, Part 1. This is a sort of Cyclopædia of the social conditions and earning of the working classes of the great metropolis, by Henry Mayhew. It contains a number of illustrations, with designs by engravings by Beard. The design of the work is novel, and Mr. Mayhew writes both ing that is not sterling.

The Moor and Cottage, by the author of Mary Barton. A very touching story.

Nile Notes of a Howadji. This is the most graphic and striking picture of Egypt we have yet met with. It is full of life and spirit.

Time the Avenger. To say that this is a novel by Mr. Marsh, is at once to proclaim its excellence. The author of "Two Old Men's Tales," has achieved a reputation that needs no endorsement of ours.

CONCERT OF CHARLES WYMAN.—This distinguished violinist will give a Concert to-morrow evening, at the Lyceum Hall, on which occasion, he will be assisted by several celebrated artists. Mr. Wyman is a performer of no ordinary talent, and though his great gifts have been allowed to slumber unnoticed for want of patronage, we do hope that our music loving population will show their good taste and appreciation of real genius by filling the Lyceum Hall to-morrow night. The programme of the Concert has been selected with great care, and comprises several very choice pieces.

IN ADVANCE OF THE MAIL.—By the Western Line of telegraph the Louisville papers of the 15th and 16th have received much information in advance of the mail. We have copied freely from them.

TORNADO.—The Mobile Advertiser says:—While the steamer Emperor was lying at Norwich Landing, on Saturday last, she was struck by a tornado, which stove in her skylights, carried her chimneys overboard and they sunk in thirty feet water. The passengers were at dinner when the wind struck the boat. No other damage reported. She came into port without her chimneys.

HAVANA.—By the arrival of the brig Pierre Soule, Captain Smith, we have received Havana papers to the 14th instant, inclusive. The locomotive on the Cardenas Rail Road exploded on the 9th instant, killing instantly the engineer, the conductor and a fireman.

GEORGIA.—The complete census of Georgia exhibits a population of 907,897, divided as follows: Whites, 527,287; slaves, 380,610. Increase since 1840, 216,595, or over 40 per cent.

DURABILITY OF WOOD.—The piles under London Bridge have been driven 600 years, and on examining them in 1846, they were found to be little decayed. They are principally elm. Old Savoy Place, in the city of London, was built of 650 years ago, and the wooden piles remaining of oak, elm, beech and chestnut, were found, upon recent examination to be perfectly sound. Of the durability of timber in a wet state, the piles of the bridge built by Caligula across the Danube affords a striking example. One of these piles was taken up, and found to be petrified to the depth of 3-4 of an inch, but the rest of the wood was not different from its former state, though it had been driven 1,600 years.

Very Goods Sale.

The attention is invited to the sale this day, at 10 o'clock, at F. H. Pautigny's auction room No. 8 Canal street, comprising a large and very desirable assortment of spring and Summer Goods worthy the attention of city and country buyers.

☞ We call the attention of purchasers to the sale of Property and Negroes belonging to the succession of I. B. Bazon. The sale takes place THIS DAY, at the St. Louis Exchange, at 12 o'clock, for full particulars, see the advertisement of J. A. Beard, Auctioneer.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE U. S. SENATE.

In the SENATE, on the 10th, the nominations of Ogden Hoffman, Jr., as District Judge of California, and T. Butler King, as Collector of the port of San Francisco, were confirmed.

By the laws of 1850, the mileage of the California members is limited to the nearest route within the United States. The House, notwithstanding, has allowed mileage to the members of the late session by the Panama route. Senator Gwin submitted his case to the Judiciary Committee, and it is understood that they will report against the Panama route and against constructive mileage for the extra session, otherwise Mr. Gwin would be entitled to $11,000 for mileage since Dec.

Father Ritchie's case goes over to the next session.

Mr. Cass defended himself from an editorial in this morning's Republic, in relation to his letter to Mr. Kellogg, relative to the river and harbor bill.

Mr. Rhett defended South Carolina against the false and erroneous statements contained in Mr. Houston's letter to Gen. Hamilton, published in the Union of yesterday.

This gave rise to an exciting debate between Messrs. Rhett, Houston and Butler, which terminated by a joke from Mr. Hale.

A communication was received from Messrs. Gales & Seaton declining to publish, after the session, the daily debates of the Senate, which was referred to the Judiciary Committee.

The Committee reported adversely to allowing mileage to California Senators by the Panama route.

Executive session adjourned.

In the SENATE, on the 12th, a motion to adjourn sine die on the next day, was laid on the table.

Mr. Mangum called up his resolution that 2,000 copies of extra numbers of Prof. Espy's work on meteorology, ordered to be printed by the Senate, be placed at his disposal, in order to enable him to furnish each of his meteorological correspondents with a copy. Laid on the table.

A letter was received from the President, with accompanying correspondence with Turkey relative to the Hungarian refugees. Most of the correspondence has already been published. One letter to Mr. Webster states that in May the time expires when the Sublime Porte promised to restore the Hungarian refugees. Another letter, from Mr. Webster to Mr. Marsh, U. S. consul at Constantinople, urges him to prevail on the Sublime Porte not to renew the stipulations with any foreign power for the detention of the Hungarians, and to say to the Sublime Porte that if he allows Kossuth and his companions to leave, they will find a vessel ready to convey them to our shores. The letter of our government. Those at Havana and Liverpool, are not worth much more than the expenses to which a Consul who lives in a proper style, is necessarily subject.

Mr. George L. Curtis the Patent Lawyer, desires to be appointed Commissioner of Patents. There is not yet any nomination of a new Commissioner before the Senate, but I have no doubt that the present incumbent is to be removed.

Joseph R. Ingersoll, has declined his appointment as one of the Commissioners to investigate the claims of California. It is thought that such an office should be offered to one who is neither young nor poor.

The office of Charge d'Affaires in Nicaragua, was offered by George Evans, of Maine, some time ago, but it was understood that it was to be raised to a Mission. It was recommended by Congress to make an appropriation for a full mission to Nicaragua, but it was not done. And Mr. Evans declines the charge-ship. Many appointments and removals are, it is said, to be made after the present session.

Mr. Marcy, the Secretary of State, is now at his room, but is very busy here, and it is said that none will be made at present. In the meantime, Mr. M. himself, gives countenance to the wormwood that attempts have been made through Bayle's influence, to defeat the Nicaragua canal project.

The correspondence between Gen. James Hamilton and Gen. Sam. Houston, which appears in the Union to-day, is very curious, interesting, and it is probable we shall have more of it.

It is said that Mr. Roche is to call to his aid in the conduct of the Union, his son, now editor of the Washington Second Empire. In an article in the last Union it is insinuated that the editorship will be committed to "younger and abler hands."

City Intelligence.

ORLEANS THEATRE.—Benefit of Madame Ricker.—Verdi's Opera of "The Two Foscari," will be performed to-night on the occasion of Madame Ricker's benefit, and we hope that the many admirers of this accomplished actress will give her a genuine temper. The opera will be preceded by a new and spirited vaudeville.

PLACE'S VARIETIES.—An entertaining bill is to be presented to-night.—See advertisement.

INVEILHE & STAFE.—J. E. Staffe was arrested yesterday in the First Municipality on the charge of having sold a slave girl for years old, belonging to Mrs. Elisabeth Mely. He was remanded for examination.

BREACH OF TRUST.—David Nathan was charged yesterday before Recorder Genois with a breach of trust, in which Louisa Summers alleges to be the victim to the amount of a watch worth $65. A warrant was issued.

CHARGE OF PERJURY.—James Evans was brought up yesterday before Recorder Genois on the charge of having committed wilful perjury in Judge Whitney's Court. The examination of the case was deferred.

THEFTS.—George McLane was arrested yesterday in the Second Municipality, charged with having stolen some articles of clothing. J. Oliver was charged with having stolen $50 from M. Daly, in Carondelet street.

CHARGE OF MURDER.—Jacob Langenhorn was arrested yesterday, on the charge of having murdered with having killed the bar-keeper of the boat in the recent trip down. The case has not yet been investigated.
