THE UNION MEETING

[illegible] appointed at the preliminary meeting, Young Men of New Orleans, the following gentlemen:

J. P. Benjamin, Wm. Dunbar, [illegible] Wm. H. Garland, [illegible] W. H. Rowe, [illegible] H. Duncan, and Henry T. Hayes.

This Committee are charged with the duty of making all arrangements for a Union Mass Meeting, irrespective of party, and are instructed to invite General Downs, General Foote, and other distinguished gentlemen to be present, and address the assemblage.

We have no doubt whatever, that the proposed meeting will be the largest and most imposing ever congregated in the City of New Orleans. It is not going too far to say, that of [illegible] citizens in this city, there are not [illegible] opposed to the Union. The [illegible] were hostile to the Peace [illegible] Compromise, is perfectly satisfied [illegible] very many of them [illegible] of citizens who [illegible] break up the Compromise, and [illegible] and unreasonable, and most equitable project [illegible] been framed for the attainment [illegible] objects sought by the friends of the Union. In emulation of the [illegible] manifested by the patriotic citizens of New York, and about to be evinced by [illegible] the Union men of New Orleans will turn out and spread the flag of their country [illegible] and devotion in the cause [illegible] not a stripe polluted [illegible]

[illegible] demonstration on the occasion. The research has of late [illegible] that New Orleans is beginning [illegible] and patriotism, and that [illegible] slightly tainted with those deleterious doctrines which in South [illegible] become other portions of the South, [illegible] and exasperating the public [illegible] is not so, and all who are familiar [illegible] sentiments of our community, know [illegible] But not the impression of the [illegible] on our part may be [illegible]

[illegible] that they may [illegible] Louisiana and her [illegible] and resources all [illegible] and in accordance with the harmony of [illegible] it is meet and proper that we [illegible] formal expression to our opinions, [illegible] while we hold in abhorrence [illegible] ous schemes of Northern Abolitionists [illegible] tenaciously to the just and peaceful [illegible] of the South, we are no less [illegible] and [illegible] in our opposition to [illegible] fanatical, equally deluded and equally [illegible] who seek to dismember this glorious [illegible]

[illegible] meeting is probably to be held [illegible] week. At quite a number [illegible] from the North New Orleans [illegible] Washington will be present, and it is not unlikely [illegible] will be graced by the [illegible] of distinguished statesmen and [illegible] Washington. The Committee will avail [illegible] the necessarily limited period [illegible] to secure the attendance of as [illegible] gentlemen as possible. It is [illegible] desirable to state that the arrangements [illegible] which the Committee will have to make [illegible] to be on an extensive scale. We hardly know [illegible] how to [illegible] building the could accommodate [illegible] men in our city, [illegible] [illegible] unprepossessing [illegible]

[illegible] Chamber of the Point [illegible]

[illegible] have commenced [illegible] of war, a number have [illegible] to this. The cause on some [illegible] very well, while on others not [illegible] hundred pounds to the acre.

[illegible] wish we had a few days past has [illegible] planted the late cotton.

[illegible] seen done to the cane as yet, [illegible] weather.

[illegible] the river banks in some parts [illegible] continue, and in places entirely [illegible] have to be made.

PATENT CLOTHES. We are informed by Mr. Benjamin, No. 63 Camp street, that [illegible] French Coat [illegible] best of [illegible] It is highly ingenious, and we [illegible] worth public patronage.

It is stated by the London Times of the [illegible] that a steamer has arrived at that [illegible] with eighty-nine packages of [illegible] for the great Industrial Exhibition [illegible] of opening, large was expected [illegible]

New York election.—Through the entire State of New York except the 6th district, which will be heard from to-day, the election in the State, with such close parties the day [illegible] Taylor's majority, as nearly as can be [illegible] we can make [illegible] of them, while [illegible] general result, being already known, robs [illegible] much of their interest. We gather [illegible] however, a few prominent items. [illegible] the Whig candidate for Mayor of New York, has about 5000 maj. The majority [illegible] Aldermen are Whigs, and the majority [illegible] Seven Democrats. The four Coalitionists [illegible] are [illegible] three Whigs—Messrs. Briggs, Brooks & Haws, and one Democrat, Mr. [illegible] The city gives a very small Whig majority, the county is Whig by about 200. From New Jersey, Michigan and Wisconsin, the returns are meagre and imperfect.

Massachusetts.—A despatch to the Picayune says:

The returns from the different election districts are still very scanty, and show that [illegible] no one [illegible] for the election of Governor [illegible] In the Legislature the Whigs have a majority on joint ballot [illegible] returned.

[illegible] Whig and Democratic candidates have [illegible] Free Soiler, Democrat, Hunt and [illegible] Whig, Free Soiler, Democrat, Hunt and [illegible] Whig, Free Soiler, Democrat, Hunt and [illegible] Whig,
