OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE NEW-ORLEANS, SATURDAY MORNING, JULY 26, 1851.

The New-Orleans Daily Bee.

Official Journal of the State, Government, Cities, Municipalities and Board of Liquidators.

Saturday Morning, July 26, 1851.

NOTICE.—In order to facilitate the transaction of my business, I have sold my interest in the "New Orleans Daily Bee," to J. EPHRAIM D. VERGIER, my brother, under whose name it will be published. The new paper will be called "The New Orleans Daily Bee." It will be published weekly, and commence its course on the 1st of August, 1851. G. F. WEISER.

New Orleans, May 1st, 1851.

THE NEW-ORLEANS MAIL came through yesterday with the latest news.

JEN. SCOTT.

It is useless to discuss the fact that the White of the South took up the position of Gen. Scott, a candidate for the Presidency, without having regard with marked success to the cause he advocated. Gen. Scott has been nominated by two State Conventions, both of them imbued with decided hostility to the South.

We adduce to Ohio and Pennsylvania.

The White of these States represented in Convention, gave a cold shoulder to the Compromises—in one, an emphatic resolution was passed, that the Southern Slaveholding and the Compromises contained itself with a vote of resolution, recognizing the supremacy of the laws.

In the other, the question was distinctly propounded, as one having no connection with general policy, and upon which White might take a different side.

White's conduct of his party, however, was followed by the formal reconsid-eration of the claims of General Scott to the Presidency. These, more in than out, a general impression seems to pervade the public mind, that Scott is not the man for the place.

That he is in high feather

with the Free Soil Whigs is obvious enough;

but we have no knowledge whatever of his opinions on the Slavery question.

The Free Soil Whigs are equally hostile to the Compromises.

The Free Soil Whigs, "The White of the South," has been with them, and with an explicit disavowal, from any man who may be a candidate for the Presidency, but will be elected, placed on any bill of impeachment, shall be compelled to resign his office.

That the Compromises are still in effect, and the Convention contained itself with a vote of resolution, recognizing the supremacy of the laws.

In the other, the question was distinctly propounded, as one having no

connection with general policy,

and upon which White might take a different side.
