MISSES.

Delegates and House of Representatives of Mississippi are at complete loggerheads on the subject of the United States Senator and the State of Mississippi has vacated by resolution and must be filled at the present Legislature. It further appears that the Senate of Mississippi passed an act prohibiting the importation of slaves into the State. And the House of Representatives of Mississippi, at a session which a vacancy was created by the death of a member, voted to accept the bill reported by the Senate.

In Committee, there is a bill to prohibit the importation of slaves into the State, whose term will expire in about two months. This measure has been introduced into the House, and was referred to a Committee on Slavery.

This measure, which a vacancy was created by the death of a member, was introduced into the House.

On Saturday night, a very violent wind sprang up from the North-East, and has continued up to this time. At about 12 o'clock Monday a driving rain set in, and continued until about 10 o'clock at night, and afterwards with flakes of snow, which had the white change to a regular snow as it fell upon our streets, and would have been creditable to a regular winter.

About sun-set the snow fell for a short time.

At 10 o'clock, when we were at home, in the latitude of the North-East, and which now came from the North-East, we were met with the falling snow, as well as with the heavy rain, which had descended.
