THE DAILY BEE.

OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE STATE GENERAL COUNCIL AND FIRST MUNICIPALITY COUNCIL.

The Norfolk Mail, which left yesterday morning, has not arrived.

THE ELECTION.

The smoke of the battle is at length cleared away, and we find the Whig ranks unbroken, the Whig cause triumphant, the Whig banner floating proudly over the Capitol of the Union. Each Whig has reason to feel proud of the result of the contest which has just terminated, and each Whig should feel himself called upon to exert himself to the utmost to secure the success of the triumph. It is not to be disguised that the victory has been achieved chiefly by the efficient Whigs, which inspired Mr Clay's friends with the utmost confidence in the success of the Whig cause, and which will now dissipate all doubt as to the result of the election. Every effort to belittle the importance of the victory must be unsuccessful with the people of the United States. Mr Clay's friends have exhibited a zeal and devotion to the Whig cause, his invaluable services in the late and previous contests, his ability as a Statesman and thorough acquaintance with the details of municipal legislation, will scarcely be surprised at the expression of their unfeigned sorrow at the loss of his election. The Whigs might look long and carefully, and they found in representative more capable, more ardent and more disinterested than himself.

New Rivals.—Our thanks are due the publishers, Messrs Harper & Brothers, through J. B. STEELE, Esq. to a camp street, for the following new publications:

A Dictionary of Practical Medicine—By Robt. Copland, Part XXII. This is a work of great professional value, and is the compilation of one of the most learned and celebrated physicians in Europe.

Pictorial Field Book of the Revolution, No. 20—Mr. Lossing's beautiful production is nearly completed, and it has certainly been brought out by the Harpers in splendid style. The illustrations are remarkably fine, and the work itself is carefully written, and presents a highly interesting and reliable history of the War of Independence.

Jane Eyre—This is a romance by Mrs Marsh, and is pronounced by the British press equal to the best of her productions. It is a powerful portrayal of pride, suffering and duty, principally over the pleadings of passion.

The Bible in the Family, by the author of "Ourselves." We have not read this volume, but its predecessors from the same pen established the claims of the author to a high place among the writers of fiction. Intimate delineation of character is unsurpassed.

Mission Tales—The Soldier of Fortune—Plot is by Charles Lever. Dealt enough of its sweet, but a wild, forbidding look of romance and adventure, in which pathos and fun succeed each other, and the grotesque and the powerful are curiously intermingled.

Tom and Harry, by Robert Bonner, edited by Robert Chambers, in four volumes.—Vol. I. Mr. Chambers proposes in the work before us to publish a more complete, detailed and impartial biography of the great poet, than has yet appeared. He has moreover connected the life of Burns with his productions, giving them in strict chronological order as they appeared. We know of no one more competent to do justice to the author of the Land o' Cakes and Auld Lang Syne.

SCOTCH CONSUL AT KEY WEST.—For the information of the traveling public we have been requested to state that a Spanish steamer leaves regularly every week for Key West, where passports to ports in the Island of Cuba can be obtained at all times.

☞ The Last Dollar for getting Liquor into Maine we learn, has been for some weeks unsuccessfully exerted to its utmost. Three orders for Dan & Marthias Bitching "the critter" have carefully filled and sealed like the purely imported Dan & Marthy.

MARY, Parrott.—We learn by a private letter from Savannah that Mlle Parrott had arrived at Havana, and had also received concerts of the most brilliant success. Her arrival at New Orleans will be somewhat delayed in consequence of her sojourn at Havana, but she can be confidently expected in the course of a week or two.

ARRIVAL OF STEAMER ISHERWOOD.

LATER FROM SAN JUAN.

The steamship Clarendon, Lieutenant H. K. Davenport, commanding, arrived yesterday morning from Chagres, via San Juan, the passage from which place she made in six days.

Off at San Juan D. S. sloop of war Decatur, all well also the propeller Hero from New York, put in at Porto Bello, out of coal.

The steamer Panama, from New York, arrived at San Juan on the 15th March. All her passengers, about 600, were detained at San Juan on account of the quarantine, none being allowed to land. It was impossible for the transportation boats at the Navarsan line to proceed hence, otherwise it must create much annoyance to passengers as well as great detention.

Among the passengers by the Clarendon is George Law, Esq., the principal owner of the U. S. Mail Line of steamers running from New York, New Orleans, Havana and Chagres. He was accompanied by his son, and Messrs. Benson, Dunning, Foster & Co., of New Orleans, connected with the line of steamers.

Mr. Law, one of the U. S. mail line of Law's mail now run to Navy Bay, a distance of about two miles from Chagres, where they connect with the Panama railroad by which conveyance passengers arrive at Panama in thirty hours, thus saving two and a half days, and in a few weeks the railroad will be completed to Gorgona, by which time passengers and freight will arrive at Panama in fourteen hours from Navy Bay, thus avoiding the long and tedious canoe ride which before has been the only means of conveyance, and of course making the most expeditious and pleasant route to the golden shores of California.

At Navy Bay the Company have been at great expense in building a fine long wharf, where the steamers go to, thus affording passengers every convenience in landing, as well as escaping the disagreeable process of landing in small boats to get the trip to California within route is one of pleasure instead of fatigue.

SEPTEMBER BAPTISM SUPERIORITY EXPLAINED.—A scientific correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette says:—"The human blood is charged with the noxious elements of decomposition in a variety of diseases, and the only time and legitimate manner of administering the bath is the abundance of decomposing impurities in the blood. The obstruction of the abdominal indicator causes the carbonic compounds to coagulate into the dark pleasing, and deposit themselves in the cellular tissue. Now if the taps were caused by the expansion of the electricity from the extremities, the impurities would also dissolve the spiritual emotions, and the object of baptism would be lost sight of and become identical with the piemen topic. Now this is not the case; in order to provoke the taps, the spiritual stimulum must be elevated down to the spiritual specs. But, as I said before, the inferior ingredients must not subsided over the digestive sufficiently to disturb the stomach.

☞ Punch even on the following as among the wonders of a young lady's existence:

"Her name is Mary, and a young Lyde.—I Keeping her accounts in preference to an Album.

Generously praising the attractions of that fair creature who always of her own

Not educating her "dear, dear friend" quarrels, or for days three times a day.

Resisting a second glass of sherry before dinner first, or writing a letter without a postscript, or taking wine at dinner without saying "the smallest drop in the world," without a blush, or wearing shoes that were not a little too big for her.

Seeing a baby without immediately rushing up to it and kissing it.

Carrying a large bouquet at an evening party, and continue to ask her partner "if he understands the language of flowers."

☞ The dear population of the United States is estimated at about two millions, and the expenses of keeping them up, and the expenses of the stated preaching of the gospel, allowing a salary of $250 each ordained minister is six million per annum.

EXTRAORDINARY SCENE IN COURT.—A trial involving the sum of $146, has been the principal subject of discussion before the New York Common Pleas. A witness by the name of James Cormick had been examined, and his testimony on certain important points was a direct contradiction of what Mr. Cormick came down to testify. On the 21st instant Mr. Cormick came into Court and stated that he had committed wilful perjury, and asked the forgiveness of God, the court, and the jury. He said that after giving the testimony he became troubled in his mind, and could obtain no peace of mind until he had set the matter right.

The shipping "spirits" out west are cutting up all kinds of queer antics. The Perry Rock Rapids says that at a banner not far from there, several ghosts appeared in bodily form. One of them stood, cross legged on a bed post, and flapped its wings. Another was caught by the hair by a person present, but broke loose from it and escaped.

THE WEATHER AND CROPS.—A sudden and very severe change took place in the weather on Wednesday last. We had a rain which immediately succeeded by a cold north wind. The cold has been entirely unexpected. The effects have been entirely fatal. Vegetation had just flush, but it has all been nipped in the bud by the sudden change. The young corn, which had made its appearance in many plantations, is destroyed, and the cotton down, fruit, in short, all tender stuff again put down. We believe there will be cotton up. The freeze will bad during the winter, but nothing equaled the severity of the sudden spell which killed all the upper eyes. The stalks we have seen of the plant cane is very badly hurt indeed. Although we hope but some two or five weeks of remarkably mild and pleasant spring weather, the ratoon cane has not yet made its appearance.—Louisiana Chronicle.

FROM KEY WEST AND HAVANA.

The steamship Isabel, Capt. Rollins, arrived at Charleston on the 18th inst., with dates from Key West and Havana to the 15th.

From Havana there is nothing of interest. Havana was perfectly quiet, her citizens being apparently absorbed in making preparation for the celebration about to take place in honor of the birth of an heiress to the throne of Spain.

The Isabel left in Havana the U. S. steamship Fulton. The steamships Ohio arrived from Chagres on the morning of the 14th inst., and the Georgia on the 15th.

[Correspondence of the Charleston Courier.]

KEY WEST, March 15, 1852.

Ship Telamon of New York, March 5.—By the arrival of schooner St. Denys, I am informed that the ship Telamon has already commenced breaking up. Although lying in deep water the leak has existed in consequence, no doubt, of her exposure to the sea, and pieces of timber have been discovered by her officers, who have been on board from the day that she ran ashore (Monday, Jan. 15, 1852) floating alongside. Capt. Burgess has been expecting the steamer Isaac Bell from New York, which are now on board of a vessel, but when they do arrive, they will be of no avail. Capt. B. left on the 6th instant together with crews of wreckers, to examine her condition, and, from all accounts, all the materials will be conveyed to this port, as there appears no hope of now saving the hull. During the 4th instant she thumped heavily on account of the boisterous weather.

Schooner St. Denys, of Key West.—Sailschooner arrived here this morning from Nassau, (N. P.) Capt. Stickney, her master, on account of business, remained at Nassau, N. P. and despatched her for this port, but, unfortunately for himself, went her in charge of a for cargo, and left here for his vessel. The Nassau Capt. Stickney, has been brought out by the Harpers in splendid style. The illustrations are remarkably fine, and the work itself is carefully written, and presents a highly interesting and reliable history of the War of Independence.

"SOUTHERN RIGHTS PARTY.—The Southern Rights party is not yet quite dead. It kicks occasionally as if to show that vitality still lingers in its carcase. The Hon. Wm. L. Yancey, of Alabama, a distinguished gentleman, formerly attached to the Democratic party, but who for several years has had his politics enveloped in exceedingly dense fog, arrived a day or two ago in Mobile. On Friday night, a meeting of the Southern Rights men of that city was convoked, for the purpose of hearing him speak.—The Register (democratic) gives the subjoined account of the proceedings:

The meeting seemed to be composed chiefly of Democrats, and Whigs or Union men—who had come to be spectators and auditors. Scattered here and there through the crowd, could be seen the anxious faces of the "Spartan few," who yet adhere to the sectional organization of last summer,—not knowing where else to go.

At about 8 o'clock, the meeting was organized, on motion of Major Humphries, by calling Jos. Cornelius to the chair. Mr. G. S. Boone was appointed Secretary. Mr. T. C. Vasconcel, then offered the following preamble and resolution:

"Whereas the Southern Rights party of the city and county of Mobile is called on by the force of circumstances to define its position as a political body:

Therefore, be it Resolved, That we do approve of, and hereby agree to maintain and support the principles and action of the late Southern Rights Convention held in Montgomery on the 9th and 5th inst.

When these had been read, Percy Walker, Esq., rose, and seconded them, saying that he concurred in them, but did not intend to speak, as they were manifestly introduced as a basis for the speech of Mr. Yancey, who, he hoped would now come forward and address the meeting.

Hereupon Mr. Yancey advanced to the office's table, and proceeded to deliver a speech of about an hour and a half in length. It was characterized by good temper, sincerity of manner, and a clear impressive and fluent style. As to its political views, they were as impracticable, quixotic, and fanciful as the principles upon which it was based. And rational minds, as we have listened to, for many time, in Mobile. We cannot pretend to follow the winding chain of the argument, or to report any of its language, as well might we attempt to plumb the ocean, and wherefore she was allowed to deviate from our Revenue Law. As Capt. Stuckney has been examining this vessel from this port to Nassau he came immediately Collector Bonifay so as to prevent any Alabamian, Lord Lyons or any such small appointee, from seizing her. Capt. Stuckney has entered the vessel at the Custom House of the White [illegible] and [illegible] claim" name.

Throughout, the sum and [illegible] of Mr. Yancey's speech was unfavorable, exceedingly unfavorable to the movement. It could be refuted with ease in all its practical conclusions and its elementary bases.

We cannot follow the speech any further. At its conclusion the great body of the audience rose and left the room. As they were departing the vote upon the resolution was taken, and some fifteen or twenty voices declared in favor. The rest of the meeting did not vote, leaving it to the few friends of "Southern Rights," as they have now come to be denominated, to be expounded by such leaders as Yancey and Goyle—to have things all their own way in their meetings, as they could have the nation where else.

City Intelligence.

PLACIDE'S VARIETIES.—The entertainments this evening are for the benefit of that excellent actor, Mr. Bernard, and the performances will be good. Mrs. C. Howard is a debutante, the celebrated Lucy Ames, and the Scandinavian Phenomenon of Rhinegrunch. Professor Anderson Lowell will add his valuable services.

ORLEANS THEATRE.—To-night is expected to be given a most brilliant opera of "The Prophet."

DAN RICE'S.—Farewell Benefit takes place to-night, on which occasion he appears in the Equestrian performances of his own, and other talented persons, will be opened for one night only on the same street. Three splendid silver trimmed cups will be presented to the three competitors who will purchase the largest number of tickets. For particulars of the engagement and varied entertainments see programme.

AGRICULTURAL EXHIBITION.—John Bogle, colored, was taken up and fined $5 and costs, in which he charges that on Sunday last, between 4 and 5 o'clock, in a coffee house on Royal street he was thrown down and severely injured by a fall with a bitter, in the hands of Michael Birmingham. As no fault with intent to kill, is charged against the said Michael, he was discharged accordingly.

PICKING A POCKET.—Guillaum Varet was yesterday, examined before the Recorder on a charge of having clandestinely extracted a valuable gold watch from the pocket of a certain [illegible].

EXPENDING THE STRIPLES.—John Tandler, for trying to vote oftener than the law provides for, in the prison awaiting an examination before Recorder Genas.

UNLAWFUL ENTRY.—George Henderson for feloniously entering the premises of Emile Jolaise, at the corner of Bienville and Canal streets, with a supposed felonious intent, was yesterday examined before Recorder Genas.

MANDAMUS.—Last evening, on the petition of Wm. Mosley, Judge Pitot issued a mandamus directed to Dupre, Sheriff, James H. Caldwell, Recorder, and G. Lucenbuhl, Justice of the Peace, to cited to appear this morning to show why a mandamus should not issue to compel them to recount the ballots of the 4th, 5th, 10th, 13th and 15th precincts, as erroneously or believed to have taken place in the counting and tallying of votes of said precincts.

FIRST DISTRICT COURT.—Patrick Nolan, Patrick Collins and John Kelly were yesterday brought up for trial on a charge of murder, committed by the killing of watchman Leahy, by beating him with a slung shot, on the night of the 5th of November last. All the witnesses for the prosecution testified that nolle prosequi was entered by the District Attorney in the case of Nolan, and he was made one of the witnesses against the others. He knew nothing, however, but what they told him was, that they had struck the watchman hell. The Jury could not agree on a verdict last evening, and was locked up for the night.
