

The New Orleans

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE. NEW ORLEANS, WEDNESDAY MORNING, JULY 21, 1852.

THE DAILY BEE
OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE STATE,
Wednesday Morning, July 21, 1852.

FOR PRESIDENT,
WINFIELD SCOTT,
or yourself.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,
WM. A. GRAHAM,
or yourself.

Electors for Presidents and Vice Presidents.

Fifth District.—Jacques TOUTANT, of St. Bernard. (whomst, E. B. WILSON, of Jefferson).

Second District—Christian ROESLER, of Orleans; (whomst, Cyprian DUNOR, of Orleans).

Third District—Duncan F. KEMER, of Ascension; (whomst, FREDERIC GARDNER, of Ascension).

Fourth District—Owen W. WATKINS, of Livingston; (whomst, R. J. BARROW, of West Feliciana).

Fifth District—Alexander COOPER, of St. Martin; (whomst, C. E. ELZEE, of St. Martin).

Sixth District—Isaac GARRETT, of Orleans; (whomst, John M. LINDEN, of Orleans).

THE COMPROMISE.

WHIG PLATFORM.

The acts of some of the Whigs, Congressmen, and Senators, in supporting the COMPROMISE, presented, for the recovery of fugitives from the South, were, in my judgment, a violation of the rights of the slaves, and the country.

General H. S. Foote, who, I understand, was advanced by the credit of the Friends, made a speech, in which he said, "The South has been obtained by the Friends, and the Friends have obtained the South." This was a bold statement, and may be expected to be repeated.

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The South is the natural home of the negro, and he is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is destined to be the master of the South."

General H. S. Foote, in his speech, said:

"The negro is