THE CONTRAST.

Gen. Scott.	Gen. Pierce.
"I was born subject of the Constitution and for the Union. I have fought for the Union, and I intend to. There is a most startling fact now on the ground, of which I appeal to him, as a soldier of them!	I have been subject of the Republic. I have fought for Constitution and Union, and I intend to. I am proud to be a citizen of Democracy.

Speech of Winfield Scott, to the 8th Infantry, at Pascagoula, Miss., 1847.

Speech of General Pierce, at Manchester (N. H.) on the 3d January, 1852.

The Hernando Hall came through yesterday with the latest dates.

The Contest Settled.

When, some weeks ago, we published the elaborate, and able speech of New Hampshire, who wrote pretense at Have Brings on the 2nd January last, when Gen. PIERCE delivered his "slavery hunting" speech, and who most did that they heard him say that his feelings revolted at the delivery of a Fugitive Slave, and that the law providing for such surrender was unconstitutional and odious—that Southern neighbor being off, as usual, half-cocked, forthwith pronounced an edict of nullification against all those statements, and disposed of them in a sweeping anathema of damnation at Abolitionists, and therefore not to be believed. We thought at the time, that our neighbor had somewhat overshot the mark in his denunciations, and that he might disavow that he had been most ludicrously shooting cranky very good and staunch Democrats and Pierce men. Then, indeed, has it proved out. Seventy of the gentlemen that WHIG that Gen. PIERCE inveighed against shamefully, and in the absence, (which Heaven speeds, as he has been being a faithfulness and emptiness of HALE and POLLARD, are strong advancement of the election of FRANKLIN PIERCE.

The editor of the Manchester American & Messenger, a highly respectable and disguised Whig paper, perceiving that the Locofoco pa-

[illegible] gives an exposition that must prove a pain to our neighbor of the Courier. It appears that JAMES MCCONNEL, who signed one of the editorials, is a gentleman of fashionable character and high standing, and a Democrat to the back of his fit, and this neither of the signers to a Pierce man, as exceptional Pierce man, a straight out Piggy man, who writes Gen. Pierce elected to the Presidency, though he does not wish it; but this fact does not affect. [illegible] following from the American & Messenger:

As an incident not who are the signers of the letter, what is Mr. McConnell's opinion of Mr. Pierce's record? What is Anthony McConnell? He is a Democrat. He is a gentleman and a man. He is an honest, intelligent, and conscientious man, as far as we are informed, of unexceptionable character. When asked to make the affidavit, he did not hesitate. He knew the facts, and he believed he should vote for Pierce, but he did not like to use his name for the Presidency. What is James McCurdy? He is one of the most intelligent, honest and honorable men in the State, has always been a leading and influential Democrat in the South, was at the head of the delegation from the town of New Boston at Concord Locofoco convention, and has all his life been a Democrat. McCurdy is not one to be [illegible] Democrat, to carry out the requirements of the platform, and to represent all fairly and honestly. He considered the nominations fairly made, and he will do his duty. Such men as McCurdy and Anderson, and Nathan Hall and Wilson, and Hall, and the whole of New Boston delegation, when they went to the town of New Boston to vote for Locofoco candidates, knew the platform and nominations, and they will do their duty by the party. They are not men who will be made ridiculous by the announcement of Mr. Scott's request.

Now, although the above is a fair statement of the opinions of Messrs. Ayer, Campbell & Co.'s manifesto. This paragraph, which with its evidence of the falsity on its face, is copied from the Locofoco of Manchester, and signed by twelve residents of this city believe it was carried to New Boston, a town represented and unbeknowingly by Locofocos, after the date of the Union Democrat, it may seem, the fifth name in an Democrat, it may seem, the fifth name in an [illegible] Democrat, it may seem, the fifth name in an [illegible] Democrat, it may seem, the fifth name in an [illegible]
