OUR REPRESENTATIVE TICKET.

We place at the head of our columns the names of the several Whig candidates for the house of Representatives. Seldom have the Whigs of Orleans nominated a ticket commanding so universal and well-deserved confidence and support of the party. In almost every district the best men have been selected.

In the First Representative District, Messrs. WEBB and CAMPBELL have been chosen. Both are gentlemen of ripe intelligence, experienced in legislative duties, able, active and high-spirited citizens, and true and tried Whigs. The District is a close one, but the popularity and worth of these candidates will rebear all opposition.

In the Second District, the ticket bears upon the names of three gentlemen, each of whom is entitled to and will receive the most cordial confidence in a well and tried old Whig, who made his mark conspicuously, when a member of the last Legislature. A. P. SIMMONS, jun., was a young man of great promise, and is entitled to all the details of legislative business. JOHN CRIPPS is a gentleman of intelligence and integrity, and will make a faithful representative. Mr. SIMMONS is a native of Massachusetts, but has all the firmness and independence of mind to be a full and true-hearted Louisianian.

The ticket in the Third District possesses many claims to all strength. Col. HUNT is a Whig of the most discriminating judgment. WHEAT is a man of eloquence and energy. Mr. SHARP is a gentleman of active mind. Mr. HAWTHORNE is a young Whig of great promise, and BARNEY is a man of business and high character.

In the Fourth District, the name of PAUL PECHIER is a tower of strength. Julius P. Pechier has declined, or he is a working man among Whigs, one whose income and efforts are exercised in the support of laborers. MAY is a gentleman of solid sense and judgment, who has always been found in the ranks of the citizens of the District. OLIVER LE BLANC is a Whig of the true metallic temper and fidelity.

The Fifth District has put forth an admirable ticket. J. L. FARRAR is one of the most genial, able and popular Whigs in our ranks—liberal in his views, and thoroughly acquainted with parliamentary business. H. GALPIN, the other worthy Commander of the Rowdies Artillery, is a man of spirit, highly esteemed for his capacity and business habits. W. BOTA is a most amiable and conciliating gentleman, eminently qualified for the office of Legislator.

J. P. BARNETT and H. ST. PAUL are the candidates in the Sixth District. Who does not know Capt. BARNETT—an honest and true-hearted a gentleman as ever came from the plastic mould of Nature. His associate, Mr. St. PAUL, is a lawyer of good education and outstanding mental resources. He is a Whig of the unquestioning school, and enjoys a well-merited popularity.

In the Seventh District, the Whigs have chosen an old and tried veteran, F. LAVILLE, a gentleman who has already served with credit in the Legislature, and who is distinguished for genuine good sense and freedom from prejudice. HENRY C. CASTELLANOS—a Whig of the very first water, ardent and impulsive but fearless, eloquent, unflinching, and just. These nominations are perfectly unexceptionable, and ought to prove entirely triumphant.

The Ninth District has put forward Mr. WM. PILES, a talented lawyer, who, we are assured, will reflect credit upon his constituency, should the people call him to their representative.
