THE DISTRICTS.

While of the First Representative District, we look to you for a certain triumph to-day. If you fail to elect CAMPBELL and SUMMERS, you will merit your reproaches. Such men cannot be beaten, if you stand by them unflinchingly.

While of the Second District, whenever you take the trouble, you can succeed. Is not the race worth the trouble? Then turn out at once, and you will run in KEARNEY, DRUMMOND and SAUNDERS like a steamer, besides giving a round majority to the general ticket.

While of the Third District, the battle will be fierce. You have no less than SIX representatives to elect. Upon the result here will probably depend the political complexion of the Legislature. Are you fully alive to the responsibility that weighs upon you? Remember, a superior effort will be made by the Locofocos to storm your citadel. Resist it gallantly and beat back the invaders. Much, very much depends upon the Third District. Whigs, carry your ticket here, and more than half a triumph will be already won.

While of the Fourth, you have a [illegible] to prosper, but with such leaders as [illegible], LABUZAN and LEBLANC you ought not to be afraid to run the battle. Nail your flag to the mast, and never stop till you dismantle and disable the enemy's craft. Look out for a huge Plaquemine majority in your district, and act accordingly.

While of the Fifth, your district is a double one, but much the greater will be the glory of carrying it. Go to work with the inviolable resolution of the chivalrous MILLER, when he stormed the British battery at Lundy's Lane. You can try, and he who tries with all his might and all his soul, is exceedingly apt to succeed.

While of the Sixth, with an honest vote your district is safe. Let it be your special business to see that none other than an honest vote is given. Keep the ballot box pure, and o'clock P. M. you may confidently look to the counting of the votes for the reward of your efforts.

While of the Seventh, your district would be fairly debateable if none but legal voters are allowed the right of suffrage. Your duty is to aid to the utmost of your ability in purging the polls of spurious votes. Be firm and resolute, for you may be bullied, but be calm and cool, for anger breeds excess, and provokes difficulties which may be otherwise avoided.

While of the Eighth, yours is a nearly hopeless case, though this district has been once carried and may be again. At all events, lead the van in the conflict and act as if the victory depended on your individual exertions. Therein lies one of the secrets of success.

While of the Ninth, we know you are with Judge LAIDLAW, if you only try hard enough. And we believe you will have sought uniform success so glorious a result.

While every where—remember you are striking a blow at legislation and for the repeal of the infamous statutes passed by the late Locofoco General Assembly. Remember too, that you are fighting for JOHN SLIDELL and the moneyed power. Let these considerations nerve you for the contest, and sustain you to the close.

VOTE EARLY.

We cannot too strongly impress upon our readers the necessity of VOTING EARLY. If you are not recorded when first opened, a delay will consequently have time to depart to their orders, and then hunt up the laggards, and drive the more flocks. VOTE EARLY, and see that all your Whig acquaintances vote early.

LOOK AT THE TICKET.

We wish to every voter in the city to look at the ticket now he heads it as the list is printed. An immense number of spurious tickets have been put in circulation. We have seen two dozen specimens. The only way to avoid deception is to EXAMINE EVERY NAME on the ticket, and see if it contains any of the names of the party. It may be not done, many a Whig will unconsciously and unwittingly support one or more locofoco candidates.

CAMPBELL MINSTRELS.—The original Campbell Minstrels give their first concert to-night at Amory Hall. They will be assisted by Ed WARD KENDALL, the world renowned Eagle player, and DR. GUS KENDALL, the celebrated Negro Ethiopian Artist. Among the members of the troupe will be found Mat Peel, Luke Webb and Joe Murphy.

INTERVIEW U. S. SENATOR.—We announce with great satisfaction the re-election of John Bell of Tennessee to the Senate of the United States for six years from March last.

☞ PENMANSHIP AND BOOK-KEEPING.—Ladies and gentlemen who wish to perfect themselves in penmanship and book-keeping are referred to BRYANT'S ACADEMY, 108, Canal street.

SUITS OF WINTER CLOTHING, HEAVING FLANNEL AND DRAWERS &c.—We call the attention of the trade to the stock of Winter Clothing, Merino Shirts and Drawers, &c., which will take place on THIS DAY, at 10 o'clock A. M., at Roche & Lemonnier's auction rooms, No. 37 Chartres street.
Terms at sale.

THE DAY AND ITS DUTIES.

The day is at hand which must determine whether our citizens and municipalities city is to continue under the same paralyzing misgovernment which for a year past has characterized it, or whether the citizens, by one resolute and noble effort, are determined to throw off the incubus of Locofocism and confide its destinies to more capable and honest hands. At this period exhortation and argument are almost heedless. We have labored to little purpose, indeed, if during the canvass which is about to close, we have failed to impress upon the minds of the Whig suffragans of New Orleans, the urgent necessity of rallying warmly and cordially around their nominees, and of arriving zealously and manfully to overthrow the unscrupulous party which is opposed to them. We have endeavored to point out the manifold evils from which our State has suffered under Locofoco mal-administration. We have adverted repeatedly to the infamous partisan legislation of last year, whereby our charter has been carved and sliced to gratify the cupidities of aspiring politicians; the enable some to enjoy munificent offices, and others to consolidate under their undisputed control the entire police force of our city. We have exposed the demagogueism of the dominant party; its loquacious mockery of the Commissioners of Election; its fraudulent intrigues with the rowdies and rogues of Gallatin street; its vast expenditure of money; and have shown that the leading spirit whose influence and power have been most conspicuously displayed throughout the contest, has been instigated to this bold attempt to obtain a Locofoco triumph by his personal ambition and selfish yearnings for a seat in the United States Senate.

It is thus that the faction which of itself is fast forfeiting its strength and popularity, seeks to perpetuate misrule, and cannot triumph such as HONEST vote. Whether the people may be assured. It will be swept from every Ward and District in our city this day, never to come before the people upon the single issue of its own claims. But this it dares not do, and has therefore resolved the immense lever of the money power to bear it up, and has sought to perpetuate its reign by every art and application that reckless partisans can possess.

Against the desperation of a party which knows that if defeated now, it is annihilated, the Whigs and the independent Democrats have this day to do battle. We fear not the result, if our friends do their whole duty, fully and fearlessly. But we are bound to state that nothing less will suffice to overthrow cliques domination. Lukewarmness and indifference would be overwhelmingly fatal. Every Whig in the city must be brought to the polls—every Democrat must be borne to bear the yoke of JOHN SLIDELL, must unite, for the time, with those who oppose him. Every effort must be made to counteract fraud, and baffle collusion. The utmost vigilance must be exerted. Coolness, firmness, resolution, unanimity, she an trammelled exercise of the prerogatives of American freedom—these must be relied upon to give us the victory.

WHO WILL VOTE FOR FRERET?

Every MERCANT, for they have many a time and oft, had reason to be pleased with his urbanity, obliging disposition and prompt and systematic discharge of duty.

Every MECHANIC, for FRERET has been their warm, steadfast and unwavering friend.

Every WHIG, for he is an unswerving advocate of their principles.

Many DEMOCRATS, for FRERET carries no bitterness and malignity in his political creed, but befriends Democrats and Whigs alike.

All who love honesty, frankness, generosity, kindness of heart, good humor, and true and uncontaminated republicanism.

WHO WILL VOTE FOR YOUENES?

As a matter of course ALL THE WHIGS, for John Youenes has been for twenty years one of their most faithful, active, working members

A large number of down town DEMOCRATS, for JOHN was brought up among them, and they know full well his sterling qualities as a man, his excellent heart, liberal disposition, intelligence and capacity—while Mr. FORSHEE has been to them a complete stranger.

PROVINCIAL INSURANCE COMPANY OF TORONTO.—We call the attention of our readers to an advertisement in another column of the Provincial Insurance Company of Toronto. A branch office of said Company is established at No. 48 Camp street, and is now prepared to issue policies against the perils of the seas and rivers; also against any loss or damage by fire, at the current rates of premium. The gentlemen at the head of the Company are highly capable, worthy and respectable.

The Arctic's News.

The Baltimore papers of Monday last contain telegraphic despatches of the news by the Arctic, to Sterling, who arrived at New York on Sunday. As the details are fuller than those previously published we subjoin the intelligence:

NEW YORK, Oct 30.

The steamer Arctic has arrived, bringing Liverpool dates to October 19th, and 290 passengers. Among the latter are Signor Martinetti, the Neapolitan Minister; Hon. D. D. Barnard, late Minister to Prussia; Jerrod, Douglas, Messrs. Lesthy and Sami Effendis, Commissioners from Egypt to the Crystal Palace.

The steamer Baltic, Liverpool for New York, from Cardiff for New York, foundered at sea Sept. 13th. The crew were rescued by a Spanish steamer.

THE EASTERN QUESTION.—The London Times says that the Turkish Manifesto is one of the strongest and most unanswerable state papers ever issued during the present century.

The Paris Constitutionnel says it is certain that Russia is already defeated, and that she will be so materially. Hostilities on the Danube and on the shores of the Caspian are inevitable.

A despatch from Vienna of the 17th says that Constantinople had replied to the Turkish summons, that the Porte was ready to commence hostilities, make peace or evacuate the Principalities. He therefore refuses to do either.

Reinforcements to Turkey have been placed under Austrian protection.

The Turks allow neutral flags on the Danube to the 25th inst., but no longer.

At Hollwood points where Sacramento, the telegraph has been at work several days.

The Honorable Hiram Walbridge Representative in Congress elect from New York, at present on a visit to this city on business connected with the Pacific Railroad, left the compliment of a public dinner from many of the most prominent citizens of San Francisco, on Wednesday last. The dinner was attended by our Senators and one of our Representatives in Congress, as well as a number of distinguished officers of the National State and Government.

The death of Mr. E. Knight, formerly agent of the P. M. S. S. Company, who was on the eve of his departure for the Atlantic States, has thrown a deep gloom over this community.

Murders and homicides have become quite alarming in our State. On Monday night last an unoffending Chinaman was shot down in his own place of business, on one of the principal streets of our city. The deed was observed by a bystander, but the murderer was suffered to escape and mingle among the crowd, and has not since been heard of. A single sense of the Morning Herald recommends, in addition to this, the record of four murders in Calaveras county, the shooting of one robber in Los Angeles county, and the hanging of three others in San Luis Obispo. The three latter, in connection with a woman, had been convicted before a jury of citizens of many aggravated crimes, including murder, in the larger part of the State; and as one time proposed that they be surrendered to the officers of the law. The people, however, decided that they would themselves see to their punishment, and the three were accordingly hung to the bough of a tree on the beach, with vast any manifestation of remorse. Two other men, belonging to the same gang, were also pursued by a body of the people, and before either could be secured, fired several shots from their revolvers at their pursuers. One of them fired no less than seven times, and defended himself with the utmost coolness and gallantry. He was killed, and the other was retained in custody. [illegible] the principal of the [illegible] of the murderers, and the [illegible] history of our State was manufactured and [illegible] tragic of more frequent occurrence.

The news from the interior of the State, in other respects, is encouraging. Goods are in demand, and are bringing handsome profits. The productions of the Vines and fruit trees are very abundant, and find a ready sale in the San Francisco market. The weather was exceedingly hot. The harvesting of cattle was being carried on to a great extent.

The Board of Commissioners entrusted with the disposition of the State's interest in the beach and water lot property of San Francisco, having been enjoined in the sale of the Government Reserve by Messrs. Palmer & Co., as well as several others, have been compelled to cease selling that property. A motion to dissolve the injunction was argued before Judge Satterlee, but was denied, but the case is still pending before the Superior Court. One lot, which was not enjoined, was offered for sale and brought $60,000.

During the fortnight the retirement of the old city government and the induction of the new have taken place. This change was accompanied by a struggle between the two political parties, growing out of the canvassing of the returns, and two cases of contested election. The Democratic members of the old Board of Aldermen retired, leaving the Board without a quorum; and at the next meeting the old organization was found in a minority and rushed disconsolate. The new government was the result of a fully organized.

From Sandwich Islands we have news of shocking earthquakes up to the 15th of September. Dr. [illegible] has been married from Honolulu to Miss [illegible], and Hiram H. Allen, late U. S. Consul at Tahiti, has been appointed to Hiogiama; a decided step had been taken by Queen Pomaree to the United States; the Minister and Premier had also presented to the King against such an act; the Commodore of the American Squadron had replied to their remonstrance in firm and dignified manner. The establishment prevailed in palsied stupor by the influence of these important movements. Further news may be found in the Herald files.

A convention has been called to meet from all parts of the State, assembled in San Francisco on the 7th inst. for the purpose of devising means to push ahead the great Atlantic and Pacific Railroad. After a couple of days' session, the delegates from twenty-one counties, the state being represented for that short time in full force.

The town of Somers, in Tuolumne county, has been again visited by fire, and a great portion of it destroyed. One man was burnt.

A large quicksilver and cinnabar mine, in the vicinity of Mexico. Warren & Sons, in more being built in this city, on which many of the wonderful productions of our State are to be shown.

The ladies of Dr. Bacon's church have gotten up a world's fair in miniature, at the Musical Hall, Bush street, which has attracted a great deal of attention.

Taylor's majority for Governor in this State is 1,695.

Improvements in San Francisco are progressing at a wonderful rate.

San Francisco is suffering very much from a bad street administration; it is dangerous to venture out after dark, the risk of a dislocated neck being ten to one against the traveller.

The Times has been turned into a corporation in some parts of this State, and the inhabitants of San Louis Obispo lately hung three Mexican horse thieves and murderers.

A commercial crisis is much dreaded, and serious fears are entertained by the mercantile community, on account of the influx of goods from all parts, on account of which articles of almost every description are now selling below prime cost.

Much and serious injury arises to this community, from the fact that money in the Eastern States do not correspond with their friends and relations in this country.

The United States Marine Hospital in this city is nearly completed; thanks to the enterprise and untiring perseverance of Mr. Charles Homer, the contractor.

The loss by the fire at Sonora is said to be one and-a-half million of dollars. Yet the city was rapidly rising from its ashes.

California Markets.

SATURDAY MORNING, Oct. 15, 1853.

If the steamer of the 1st instant carried out an unfavorable account of the state of our market, by the time the packet we are about presenting of the actual condition of commercial affairs at the present moment will be deemed still more theory and discouraging. That this result has been produced by the incessant and ruthless manner in which merchants in the Atlantic States have poured in upon us ship after ship, cargo after cargo of every known article of merchandize, and without any regard whatever to the manner in which we are to dispose of the same, we think hardly any one will be inclined to question. We are, it is true, a fast people, and are doing up things in a remarkably expeditious and summary manner, but our powers of digestion must not be too much taxed, or the inevitable result will be an entire prostration of all, and a long and distressing season of convalescence. The arrivals within the last fortnight, both from foreign and Eastern ports have been very large indeed, and the consequence is our market is completely glutted with every species of merchandize, scarcely one single article of which but is now in large supply. Even the shipper to whom we have been accustomed to look for many years to lay out for any length of time of the large sums required for the payment of freights, finds himself in very considerable loss, the returns which he is receiving being far from thrown their stock upon the market, and the consequence has been that freights have been sold at prices much below their value, and even then with considerable difficulty.

The extreme stringency of the Money market has also tended to restrict all exchange operations, and in order to raise means enough to make remittances on steamer day, many parties have been obliged to sell at almost any price they can get. When to this we add, that we are not favored at present, with our usual country trade, which is generally active at this season of the year, we have our Eastern friends to imagine what prospect is in store for them, and what kind of profits they may expect to realise on the shipments which have so liberally bestowed upon us. If such a course is persisted in, they must expect to see before long, their goods sacrificed to pay freight and charges.

THE NORTH-WEST PASSAGE.

Com. McClure's Despatches—Highly Interesting Narrative.

The London Times of the 8th ult., publishes the despatches of Commodore McClure to the British Admiralty, relative to the discovery of the North-West Passage, to which cursory reference was made by the previous steamer. These despatches are very numerous and very voluminous. We present below their most interesting and important features. The great point settled by Commodore McClure is this—he has managed to force his ship, the Investigator, far enough through the icy mountains of Behring's Straits, to a point from which she could communicate with others which had entered the Arctic Seas by the Atlantic passage. It is well to note this fact, particularly—as preparation having been created that the Investigator had sailed from ocean to ocean, which is not the case just yet—but it will be seen, by Com. McClure's despatch below, that he has every reason to believe will be able to make a passage to England now, through Davis' Straits. Practically, therefore, he is entitled to the credit of having accomplished the voyage from ocean to ocean.

The Investigator, while forcing her way through Barrow's Straits, (Sept. 24th, 1853,) from the west, was run ashore, the ice-locked current driving her right upon the Bay of Mercy. Two years before an interesting attempt. And it is remarkable, that, as it now appeared, that he now writes: Com. McClure is sanguine of returning home to England, by way of Baffin's Bay, in 1854. Portions of the despatches are exceedingly interesting.

There are two remarkable discoveries mentioned in Captain McClure's despatch, viz: Some smoking hillocks and a petrified forest, in the latter state that during his intercourse with the natives, they made no use whatever of any hostile demonstrations. This occurred on the 8th of March, near the Mackenzie, where, on attempting to land, they were met with threatening gestures and waved them off. It is without much difficulty that they were pacified, and then they related that all their tribe but the chief and his family had gone to the south, alleging as a reason that they feared the ship had come to revenge the death of a white man they had murdered some time ago. It is through the interpreter) related that some white men had come to the shore, and there they built themselves houses, and lived almost like Esquimaux. All this at least $100,000 is needed; it is said that $400,000 has been already subscribed. A committee was appointed to take the necessary steps.

Rabbi Raphall delivered the lecture on "Russia," two evenings since, before the Hebrew Young Men's Literary Association. It was a well written discourse, not over complimentary to our cousin Nicholas, but in the main sound and truthful. The lecture made a pointed application of Shakespeare's lines,

"Conscience has a giant's strength—"

But, oh! how tyrannous it is like a giant."

We have heard of "Young Ireland," and "Young England," and now we hear what Young Israel is. Rabbi Raphall evidently belongs to it.

To-morrow will be a great festival in the Roman Catholic Church. The newly appointed Bishops are to be consecrated by Monsignor Baldini, the Papal Nuncio to the United States. The ceremonies will take place in St. Patrick's Cathedral, and tickets of admission have been issued at 81 each. The proceeds are to go towards the erection of a Catholic Institution at Manhattanville.

James Gordon Bennet, the veteran editor of the Herald, returned a short time since from Europe. He avows himself, in his paper of to-day, a candidate for the French Mission, and expresses his high hopes of being appointed to it in 1856, when Gen. Pierce enters on his second term. However sorry the mark!—When Gen. Pierce enters on his second term, I've no doubt he'll get it. Poor Bennet was sorely vexed that his application was unheeded, and his vexation was sadly increased when the [illegible] out. At first he endeavored to turn it [illegible] way of a joke; but finally he was so exceedingly chagrined that he was compelled to admit the such imperchment in sheer self defence.

Yours truly, MANHATTAN

THE COTTON CROP IN TENNESSEE.—The Memphis Eagle of the 26th ult. says:

Now for the cotton crop now being harvested by the late frost and early [illegible] not yet, unable to say, but think it will not be by any means. The uninterrupted fine weather of the past month, having given planters an opportunity to pick out the largest portion of their [illegible] nearly opened; and we still think the [illegible] of a fair average crop very good. We have [illegible] the farmers in our county, and have been informed by [illegible] that their crops are turning out well. [illegible] Halsey, Oct. 20th.

From the Virginia Messenger.—The Richmond Chronicle says, information from the west of Cumberland that a body of about 100 U. S. Soldiers, in pursuit of an [illegible] deserter, had entered Poeby Hollow, in pursuit of an [illegible] deserter, had entered Poeby Hollow, in pursuit of an [illegible] deserter, had entered Poeby Hollow
