

THE DAILY HERALD
PUBLISHED BY
G. M. WOODBURN & CO.,
Proprietors and Publishers
E. MORSE,
Editor.
DAILY HERALD (one year's advance), $100.
COURTESY AND FREEDOM, $100.
Year to come, $100.
A full page of our paper is given over to the cause of freedom, and to the defense of the colored people.

THE DAILY HERALD.

Friday Morning, Dec. 6, 1853.

The Northern Mail comes through yesterday, but brought neither Washington nor Boston news. Our colored colleagues are to be at the meeting of the W.M.C. on Saturday.

CHOLERA.—PREVENTIVE MEASURES.

The cholera has spread to the greater number of cities, and the powers of the medical profession have been utilized. We suppose we have half of our population wear copper bracelets, and immediate contact with the skin.

One of our colored reporters has the following to say upon the subject:

"The Cholera is the greatest

"The Cholera is the greatest