DAY AND BOARDING SCHOOL FOR YOUNG LADIES,

UNDER THE DIRECTION OF

MADAME CHARPAUX,

At the corner of Bayou and Claiborne streets.

THIS SEMINARY, whose annual sales came six years back, has met with a success that proves, beyond all envil, the capacity of those who have charge of it.

Determined to merit the confidence of parents, Mad. Charpaux will spare no pains to make the school equal to the best institutions of the kind in New Orleans, and in order to do this, she has employed the ablest teachers.

Madam Charpaux has purchased a large and airy edifice on one of the highest pieces of ground in the city, with ample room for the exercise of the pupils who has had spacious and elevated apartments built on purpose for school and sleeping rooms, which will be furnished with a profusion of air from many windows.

Great attention will be paid to the improvement of scholars in the English language. For this purpose, American ladies of acknowledged capacity, as teachers, will occasionally reside in the family.

The English, French and Spanish languages, geography, arithmetic, and in short all the branches of a polite education, will be taught in the Seminary.

As religion should be the foundation of all sound education, it will be carefully taught by the Catholic priest, who will conduct to church and preliminary catechisms all her young ladies who may have been baptized in the Catholic faith.

Music having become a most desirable branch of the education of young ladies, Mr. Charpaux, from the best musical school in Paris, and ex-artist of the Orleans Theatre, will devote the time he can spare from his counting-house, besides their regular lessons, will practice daily under the eyes of the professor. The study of the harp will be added to the number, whenever Mr. Charpaux will put the pupils through the exercises of the regular keys and notes, and this will be attended with no extra charge.

In order to kindle emulation among the pupils, and improve their singing, on the morning of every Saturday in every month, there will be a musical examination and a distribution of rewards.

Madam Charpaux, in order to combine the education of her scholars, has opened a class where will be taught all the useful and ornamental branches of needle-work.

During the summer the classes will open at 8 o'clock, and close at 2. Re-open at 4, and close at 6 o'clock, P. M. In winter, they will open at 8½, and close at 2. Re-open at 4, and close at 5 o'clock, P. M.

TO PERSONS WEARING SPECTACLES

THERE is not a personal matter, but merely friendly advice to my customers and all those who wish to preserve their sight unimpaired. The visual organs are of sufficient importance to require the great est care in the selection of glasses when need is constantly complained of. Many persons have injured their eyesight by using advertisements published by charlatans, who care very little for the ... sample. The consequence is, they are obliged to call on ... as many spectacles as they can extravagant prices.

The undersigned, who has been established for 30 years, and enjoys the confidence of the public, is convinced by a pair of spectacles which make things look larger beyond measure. Our sight is almost always injured, sooner or later, by our making too clearly. The glasses must be sufficiently strong, and others ought not to be taken unless the change can not possibly be avoided.

I am of opinion that every one has a peculiar right to dispose of his goods as he chooses, but I also deem it my duty to caution those whose confidence I have enjoyed for many years, against pompous partisans and their new discoveries, such as "Diamond Pebbles," "Arkansas Pebbles," &c., &c. Those names are only given for the purpose of attracting public attention, as there is not a word of truth in what is said. There is but one kind of good spectacle glasses, which are made of rock crystal, and those are to be had at the undersigned's, and pure, and suit the eyes without fatiguing them.

I am a practical optician, and compound my glasses generally, except in the above expressed spectacles. C. DUBREUIL, Optician,
