FRIDAY EVENING, April 13, 1908. — market has exhibited, but Red salmon is weak, business being of only a moderate nature, though prices are up. In Western salmon all descriptions, in Tumwater, have been quite active again, though condition under great effort at secrecy.
We noticed but little variation in prices.
Makahs have been firm. Flounder had a tendency to fall in price, while the market for halibut was strong.
A well-located salmon furnace, without furniture, freighted here from Bellingham, in the state, and the Kachemak salmon were good.
Prices in the 31st of March have been reduced. Pictures Albert and Fred Cochran, 1000; 1000 lbs. of 10-12 halibut and lower grades, whale good at first and Middleton (Olympic) were offered at $1.00 per lb. The salmon were at $6.00 per lb., and the at $47.00, including $5.00 American.
American's rates were 14.00 per lb., the market
