HOW TO PREVENT CRIME.

A few days ago a man who had committed a deliberate, unprovoked and cold-blooded murder, under circumstances of peculiar atrocity, was absolutely found guilty and sentenced to be hung. This is an event in our crime ridden city. We feel at the announcement of the probable execution of an assassin something like the traveler who, after long wandering in deserts and amongst savages, approached a strange country, and hailed the appearance of the gallows as an infallible evidence of the existence of a civilized community.

We have so frequently adverted to the laxity in the administration of justice as one of the leading causes of the frequency of crime in our midst, that we feel little inclination to expatiate again upon the theme. No special sagacity is needed to understand that bad men will violate law when they know that their chances are altogether favorable to their escape from punishment. It would be a serious reflection to suppose that the ruwdies and ruffians who infest New Orleans are not entirely cognizant of the mode in which the penal statutes are systematically prelerverted. There is not a desperado who keeps his hand in contact with the lock of his revolver, or the handle of his bowie-knife, but understands full well that in using either of these deadly weapons with fatal effect, he is braving consequences which a sickly and vitiated public opinion has so often rendered practically inoperative as to remove all wholesome dread of retribution. In the present state of society the dreadful and assassin are not to be restrained by any consideration short of the vivid apprehension of the strangulating power of a rope compressed around their windpipe by the hangman's fatal lever. Let the halting course of justice, the maudlin sympathies of overscrupulous jurors, or any other obstruction to the enforcement of law, secure an avenue of escape to the offender, and an absolute premium is offered to villainy and crime. This is not the age of the millennium. We have not returned to the traditional golden epoch when the lion and the lamb shall be down together. Poverty and ignorance with their inevitable results, brutality and vice, are not yet banished from the land and hence the utopian dreams of philanthropic reformers who propose to abolish the halter, and substitute fines for punishment are chimerical in the extreme. Possibly in some remote period the law of love may become universal, and even the minds of men, by long and careful training, may have been prepared for its reception. Until then, however, the jail and the penitentiary must remain permanent monuments of the transgressor must mete the penalty pronounced on some crime, and the scaffold must from time to time bear its hideous burden.

In view of this fact but none the less impressive truth, we rejoice at every manifestation in our community of a disposition to apply the law to murderers with rigorous severity. In such a case mercy would be misplaced and culpably weak. True charity demands that the safety of society should be promoted by the punishment of crime. If ever there was a city in which stern, unpitying justice should be meted out to all offenders, it is surely New Orleans. Every one possesses are habitually exposed to the vests of organs of self-preservation, the love of society, and the offspringing of every person in the country. The burglar, the bully, the thief, the murderer, the swindler, the pickpocket, the ruffian, the criminal of every hue and species, all find a congenial retreat in our devoted city. All fancy too that they may ply their infamous callings with comparative impunity in consequence of our unfortunate reputation as the asylum for society of every description. We shall never purge ourselves of this superlative abomination of scoundrelism, of those moral plagues worse than those of Egypt, until we make New Orleans too hot for them. This can be accomplished without the necessity of a resort to extra judicial and dangerous remedies, such as is still more desperate crime inflicted Vicksburg and San Francisco from their abysses of infatuation. Only let the laws be executed. Only let the citizens of New Orleans with one accord, resolve to allow no leniency to culprits, to suffer nothing to come between the outraged law and its victim, to qualify no verdict in cases of murder, to prove by repeated example that death is the doom of the assassin, and that every crime shall receive its punishment—only let this stern and sensible policy be maintained for a while, and we shall soon begin to witness a radical change for the better. The exodus of rogues will begin, and New Orleans will be freed from the incubus of seething and swarming villainy. Men will not promiscuously use stricks armed to teeth. Bowie-knives and revolvers will not be flourished at the slightest provocation. The law will be held in whole some fear and reverence, and society will breathe freer and deeper.

The steamship Philadelphia, Capt. Howes, sailed yesterday morning at 3 o'clock for New York via Havana, with $100,000 on freight for the latter port, and the following passengers:—For New York—P Valentine and lady, T S Hunt, Mrs A Ferry and son, Miss S Nichols, and 27 steerage. For Havana—C E Lambrix, H A Terte, and 1 steerage.

Mr McKeever, of Adams's Express, is entitled to our thanks for New York and other papers in advance of the mail.

We are greatly indebted to the Hon. J E Bradgeny for interesting public documents.

Valuable Second District Batture and other Property at Auction—J. B. Walton, City Auctioneer. In pursuance of resolutions recently passed by the Common Council—authorizing the sale at once of all property belonging to the city not set apart for any public use, will sell on Thursday next, 10th instant, at 12 o'clock, at the St Louis Exchange—

One batture square of ground divided into twelve lots, bounded by Peters, (late New Levee) Customhouse, Clay (a new street) and Roussin streets.

The batture square, divided also into twelve lots, bounded by Peters, Roussin, Clay and Gravier streets.

Ten lots of ground in different localities in the second district.

Two lots of ground in the Third District.

The attention of capitalists and others is invited to this important sale. The batture is afford an opportunity for investment which not again be offered for years.

In the advertisements of E. Rogé & Co., under offices, book cases, will be found all the particulars in relation to the property to be sold.

Credit Sale.—The particular attention of dress is called to the very credit sale of clothing, hats and trunking bags, to take place this day, at 10 o'clock at the salesroom of E Roger & Co. Nos 45 and 47 Old Levee street. Terms—four months, approved city endorsed notes.

The Sheriff sells at auction this day, at 12 o'clock P M, at his warehouse, No 23 Jefferson street, Second District, liquors, whisky, tobacco, pickles, rice, &c. See advertisement.

A New Dime.—We have received a specimen of the dime just lately issued from the Mint. It bears the date of 1860, and is in every respect a fair and handsome piece of money. On comparing it with a former issue (1857) we note the difference thus. In the new piece the figure 1 is surmounted by the inscription "United States of America," instead of the figure, and on the obverse side, the wreath encircling the words "one dime" is larger and richer, and encroaches upon the margin, to the exclusion of the words "Liberty." Mr. Stephens was to have addressed the former.—Montgomery Confederation

Myoletpe.—Baron Heurteloup is the author of a new term, myoletic, which may be translated muscle forgetfulness. The muscular system being placed under the influence of the cerebro spinal apparatus, in normal conditions is governed by it. But any strong passion may so disrupt the brain that it forgets to continue its action upon the muscul. He says that when we open the mouth while listening with great attention, it is not—by reason of the transcendental physiologists, have declared, to open the eustachian tube as a new conduit for the sound but merely because the under jaw falls because the brain is so much preoccupied that it forgets to hold it up. In the same way, he explains the powerlessness which seizes upon people at any terror, to on the brink of a precipice, and a great number of similar phenomena. This, too, gives a good explanation of such phenomena as mesmerism, and is the key to many chronic diseases.

Further by the Bohemian.

The news by the Bohemian is to the 26th ult. The following is Heenan's letter to the London Times:

I see by your articles of Saturday that you misunderstand my wishes, and do my great injustice. I have no differences to settle with Sayers except such as I tried to settle on the 16th, and instead of being called a boy I ought to be termed a baby, if, after having come so fast and not having got a settlement, I should be willing to relinquish my purpose for a few pounds more. I am willing to fight Sayers for £200 a side, or £400 a side, or £500 a side, or £1,000 a side, or £2,000 a side, or £3,000 a side, or £4,000 a side, or £5,000 a side, or £6,000 a side, or £7,000 a
