PRESERVATION of the Sight.
Mr. C. DUMAULT, optician, 33 Chartres street, New Orleans, has invented a new device which he has received a patent for, and which is such that the eyes can be used without glasses.

The most delicate articles are unobtrusively held in place by this device, so that the present and improvements in the household, office, and other articles being equally divided over the whole surface, with spectacles generally. The independence of the two glasses, however, is a great convenience, especially when there is less wear.

It is a great improvement in these classes, showing the advantages of these new glasses, which will be exhibited and explained, on application to Mr. DUMAULT, at his office.
