The New Orleans Bee.

Office, 78 Chartres street. NEW ORLEANS, MONDAY MORNING, JULY 15, 1861. Vol. XVII—New Series. Vol. XXXIII.—Whole No. 12,137.

THE DAILY BEE.

PUBLISHED BY
C. F. WILKINS & CO.,
F. WRIGHT, No. 80 Camp.
L. MEY, No. 80 Camp.

NEW ORLEANS:
MONDAY MORNING, JULY 15, 1861.

SUBSCRIPTIONS BY THE WEEK

The carriers of the BEE are authorized to receive subscriptions to our paper, at the rate of twenty cents a week, payable in all cases to the carriers themselves.

Auction Sales This Day.

Succession of Victorian Guerite—Lease of Store 73 Camp street—We refer our readers to the advertisement of Messrs. Fernandez & Abrams, offering at public sale this day, at 12 o'clock, M., at Messrs. Merwin & Andrews' Exchange, the lease of No. 73 Camp street, from the 15th July, 1861, to the 15th September, 1863; also sundry plate and accounts.

SIGNS OF THE TIMES.

There is an exquisite conformity between ABRAHAM LINCOLN and the Federal Congress between the Sovereign and his sycophantic legislature. They override and trample upon the Constitution with equal coolness. Mr. LINCOLN openly claims in his message the plenitude of necessity in the dictionary of his utter contempt that once sacred instrument, and Congress declares not only to grant him plenary absolution for past offenses, but to investhim with unlimited authority to repeat them in the future. It must be confessed that the President is worthily seconded by the obsequious Congress. The Picayune, in defending Mr. LINCOLN'S huge strides towards a military despotism are so far from shocking the Black Republican Congress, that they are eager and prompt in furnishing the executive means for a large assumption of military power. By one act they pass a sponge over all he had done in connection with the organic law, obliterating the past and pronouncing his acts just, right and proper by another they declare the people who have always submitted millions, and a third empowers him to accede to his request for four hundred thousand more men. With such a Congress it is altogether possible that a BRUTUS may demand of CÆSAR his dagger, and CÆSAR, with a flourish of compliments, hand it to him. Is this a time for criticism? Is it not rather the duty of every man to support the President in his efforts to crush out treason? Is it not the duty of every man to support the Government? Is it not the duty of every man to support the Constitution? Is it not the duty of every man to support the Union? Is it not the duty of every man to support the flag? Is it not the duty of every man to support the Congress? Is it not the duty of every man to support the Supreme Court? Is it not the duty of every man to support the Democracy? Is it not the duty of every man to support the Whigs? Is it not the duty of every man to support the Abolitionists? Is it not the duty of every man to support the Know Nothings? Is it not the duty of every man to support the Fillmore men? Is it not the duty of every man to support the Bell men? Is it not the duty of every man to support the Douglas men? Is it not the duty of every man to support the Breckinridge men? Is it not the duty of every man to support the Secessionists? Is it not the duty of every man to support the Union men? Is it not the duty of every man to support the Disunionists? Is it not the duty of every man to support the Democrats? Is it not the duty of every man to support the Republicans