gies had protested against this porter it we found at Washington that it might be obnuzite to Gen. Houser, and in order to obviate the supposed difficulty Assistant Arl Gen. Townend was dispatched hither to injures into it matter, with authority to inform Gen. House that be might release Gen. Negles, if any it feelings existed.

This General Hunter refused to do.
As soon as General Hunter bad received in structions from Washington to revice his concludating order, and knowing that General Foster had brought to about, he (Hunter) at once ordered General Foster's shift out of his py, or to cause any dissinction among the troops.

Seeing that the new troops could not be retained here permanently, General Houter decided to break up the command of General Foster's forces, "as left by their chief," taking the chief command of the same from General Neglee and giving him command of only one half of General Foster's forces.

To this Gen. Neglee protested:

some of the questions would be brought up in other cases, the rule was postpuged indeficitely. The cases of Cady vs. G. W. Hoft was fixed for Monday next.

The wood catting case of Hassisor & Bros. vs. the Carrollton Railroad Company was submitted to the Court by Mr Cotler, with a written statement in lieu of any further argument orally.

When the Court adjourned, it was to Monday next.
