ishington, August 30.—The distinguished re from the army of the Potomac who red here yearday were highly gratifled the presentation access at Gen. Meade's quarters on Friday. They do not, however, pate much from the army for some time on the rabel forces. Everything points to ontinued inaction. Lee has retired his forces nearer to the Virunia Central railnationed inaction. Lee has retired his forces searer to the Virginia Central rail-and is not in any condition to resume the talked of offensive. There are, though, grounds for believing that the rebels are through from St. Louis have lost on every thing stopp totalls. Flour is as cheap there as in St. Louis, and it is estimated there are breakstaff, enough in the city to lest till January. Nothing faster than this could have been expected. For that would New Orleans ever have been without a trade in the great staples cotton and eagar, and without a receiving and forwarding beames for the West Indies, all of which is now suspended indefinitely. Nor is the place even a market through which to supply Southern planters, as in former years.

The population of the city has dwindled to about 50,000. Ordinarily, at this season, the population was near 150,000, and in the winter, when trade was at its flood, reached 250,000. Four fifting of all the business houses are closed.

Mr. Finnerty.—We are snarmed, but seythes can be turned to some use if they provoke us too far. (Hear) The speaker concluded by calling on the nationalists to rally round the green flag till they planted is forever above the red on the highest parapets of Intolin.

The resolution having been part by the chairman, was carried by acclamation.

The above recapitulation shows that there are several States that have not yet adopted the national system, although it is well adapted to the wade. The community require a untional currency, on which they can at all times risk of failure or depreciation.

"Yes," replied the satter, "but it's a confounded serious joke." Then the truth flashed on the benighted and confused mind of Miller that he was in a town shrounded by Federal cavalry, and that, instead of Thompson holding those "binecoats" in the room as his prisoners, he was theirs. The leatenant resigned his sword without further parley.
