CITY INTELLIGENCE.

THE MUSICAL SOIREE LAST EVENING—Professor La Hache's magical entertainments are always highly successful, and, as might be expected, Odd Fellows' Hall was the center of attraction last evening for the fashionable lovers of fine music. There were but six of the back lines of seats in the immense hall left unfilled, and though neither Mrs. Piercy nor Miss McLean were there, Miss Cameron as the chief female singer of the occasion proved herself a charming soprano and was heartily applauded by the appreciative audience, particularly after the exquisite aria, "So every earthly burthen sparing," which she sang not only with nice flexibility, but well sustained compass of voice. Among some thirty ladies assisting materially in chorus, we observed Miss Fuhri, Miss Plow, Mrs. Jones, Mrs Guion and Miss ——, the last named an alto, in quartette. It is useless to add that the public may always expect something recherché from Professor La Hache and his assistant Mr. Cripps.

FALLEN.—Since the change of temperature effected by the storm of Monday, the weather has resumed decidedly of a fall-like character, and many in the streetcar vainly essaying to get above 60c. or 70c. Fahrenheit. Fires and fall clothing have been brought, rather unseasonably for May, into requisition.

Fire and Heavy Loss—At a quarter past eleven o'clock last night a fire broke out in the third story of the large wholesale drug store of Messrs. G. M. Morrison, No. 12 Magazine street. Volume after volume of black smoke burst from the window, through which the brilliant flames were vainly struggled for the mastery with the dark fumes caused by the burning alcohol, oil, resin, turpentine and such combustible, till the smoke and flames became blended in grand but fearful confusion, seemingly defying all the efforts of the firemen to suppress them and by the light flashes of the flames through the dense darkness of the smoke creating no mean imitation of the most brilliant lightning. After a hard struggle of something less than two hours, the flames were about subdued without being allowed to communicate to any serious extent we believe either to the adjoinry store of Peal, Lee & Morris, on the one side, or the hardware store of Wharman & Co. on the other. We ventured, during the fire, into the burning building to see Capt. Hotherton, book keeper for Mr. Morrison, Freeman of Hinch and Ledder Company, No. 2, and found the door locked with complicated spirits, almost impossible to the back and downward is a stream into the gutter; but we only got out about the threshold by the water from the engine, for our pants as it was at work with too-desperate energy to give an admittance and it gave not till the fire had about done its utmost for we were enabled to learn from him that Mr. Morrison's loss, which is very heavy, is covered by insurance in several offices the amount, if we understood him correctly, of $120,000. We did not learn to the origin of the fire.

The Case of Lieut. Sheahan.—The case of Lieut. Sheahan, of the Fourth District Police, charged, and not to be eligible to his position for the want of five years' residence, came up yesterday before the Board of Police Commissioners, Judge Walker appearing as counsel for him. He contended that the residence of five years was offset by absence in the Confederate army, and that as Lieut. Sheahan had not acquired residence elsewhere, no matter where, he must be considered as having retained it here. He also contended that the words of the law, "five consecutive years," did not necessarily mean the last five consecutive years. Mr. Lynch, of the Board, differed, and thought them terms in the Confederate army did disturb the residence requirement, but as persons had returned from that service and resigned, he would, as a matter of public policy, since the police had been organized, vote to dismiss the complaint. The motion, we learn was then made by Mr. Davis, seconded by Mr. Conway, and unanimously carried.

Commodore Probably Drowned.—Edward Smith, a commander of the Gertrude Gazelle, was last at Lake Lodge Monday. He was seen walking with some other young men from a fishing excursion there into their boat for conveyance to the steam tug where they were to leave the boat to get into the skiff alongside in which the rest of the party escaped to an island and subsequently to the city, though narrowly escaped drowning. A rope was thrown to Smith but he was afraid to let go the boat to catch it when a box of tobacco from his stern without being seen on the board and not paid for it.

Died of Small Pox.—An inquest was held yesterday on the body of a colored man, aged about 33 years, found dead in a house on Bayou street, between Gentilly and Carrollton avenue. Died of Small pox.

Shot by a Woman.—About 12 o'clock, Tuesday night, a difficulty occurred in the house No. 20 Conquet street, and resulting in one of the inmates, Rose Lee, shooting a man named Eugene Rahm through the arm. He was taken to the Charity Hospital and the fair Rosa arrested. It is said that Rahm threatened to shoot her and shocked her.

Attempted Drowning.—Pedro Leiro is under arrest in the Second District Station on the charge of having beat his wife and attempted to drown her in the Canal near Hillsburg.

Drowned at the Levee.—Felicia Blondine is the name of the woman who, while busy two children we reported, was drowned by the capsizing of a schooner at the Lake during the storm on Monday evening.

First District Court.—Judge Abell.—Francois Bailey, charged with assault with intent to commit rape, was tried yesterday and found guilty.

Gaston Waterfield, charged with larceny, and Henry W. Gaynor, with receiving stolen property, were respectively tried and found guilty by the Fourth Jury. The former was sentenced to the penitentiary for two years, and the latter to imprisonment in the House of Correction for six months.

In the case of Andre, indicted, charged with arson, who had previously entered a plea of guilty, it was ordered, on motion of counsel that the case be set aside and the accused be arraigned again.

Henry Rose, colored, was tried and convicted of larceny of a pocket book containing

James Pennoyer, charged with forgery; James Kendrick, also Boston, with obtaining money under false pretenses, and William Dixon, with feloniously entering a dwelling, have been respectively placed on file.

Henry Gibbs, charged with murder, and Edward Craigin and others, charged with murder on respective indictments, plead not guilty and were remanded.

H. Rose, Esq., was appointed counsel for John Gray, one of the parties accused with Craigin.

David Pound, colored, charged with malicious assault and battery, was released by nol pros.

Recorder Akers's Court.—Henry Seaino and John Hartman, two youths, charged with entering the dwelling of Caroline Bouzeau, stealing $250 in specie and shelling a box of jewelry worth $250 and $30 50 in money, were examined yesterday and committed for trial to the First District Court. Also, Edward McCade, charged by E. E. Boyd with fraudulently obtaining money and carrying concealed weapons, was fined $5 and costs. Also, Joseph Wagner, charged by W. C. Graham & Co. with obtaining on 12c. $2,000, $1,000 under false pretenses in Nov., 1864. Gen. B. W. Adams was counsel for Nobis, and Gen. S. Leavy and J. D. Hill, Esq., for the prosecution.

Robert Price, colored, charged with shooting C. Tremoulet with intent to kill, was brought in the presence of ladies and gentlemen to the Recorder's office. Several witnesses were sworn, and the Catholic church, was fined $25, or required to go to prison thirty days.

Mary Bryan, for petit larceny, and John Warren, for stealing a keg of coppers, were sentenced six months.

Recorder Gastinel's Court.—The case of N. Fidele and A. R. Valls, charged by L. Monier, wholesale cigar and tobacco dealer on Chartres street, with embezzlement, came up for examination yesterday. Messrs. P. Soulé, Montamat and Lambert were counsel for the accused, and C. Rouzan, Barnes and Saunders for the prosecution. On motion of the latter gentlemen one section of the accused and the array of counsel, the court room was crowded with spectators. After the hearing of an immaterial character the case was submitted without argument and it will be decided this morning.

Mr. Monier testified that Fidele was in his employ as chief salesman. The day after he was released from arrest he told witness he had taken a box of tobacco from his store without entering on the books and not paid for it.

P. Montamat, draymen, testified to having carried goods received from the bank of the store, with bills to the order of Messrs. M. Frank, nephew of Dauphin and Toulouse streets, for which he received no money, and that Fidele sent the goods. He had carried goods in the same way to other places.

The testimony of Louis Mayer, the porter of the store, was considered.

A. R. Valls himself testified that he was general clerk in the store; knew that goods were sent away by Fidele, but not paid for. He was asked by the Departments. A large number of the most distinguished officers in the service have been detailed to attend the funeral at West Point on Friday. The Departments, the Commissioners, &c., will all be silenced that day in order that the whole attention of the officers of the army may be given to the last sad rites to the memory of the dead soldier. Gen. Grant commands the funeral escort of Gen. Scott in a general order in which he says:

"As a mark of respect due to the memory of the man who has filled so large a space in the history of his country, and who has rendered such services to the army and to the nation during a period of more than half a century, the general commanding directs that the usual honors be paid to the remains of Lieut. Gen. Scott, from the time they leave the city of New York until they are delivered to the Secretary of War at West Point."

Washington, May 30.—Mrs. Davis has left to join her husband at Fortress Monroe. Her departure was hastened by advices from Dr. Cooper that Mr. Davis was reduced to such physical prostration that he is unable to take daily walks across the plot of the Fortress without lying down to rest several times.

West Point, May 30.—The funeral of Gen. Scott will take place on Friday at the Chapel of the Military Academy. His remains will be interred in the West Point Cemetery.

The national colors were displayed at half-mast from the Departments and other public buildings out of respect to the memory of Gen. Scott.

The clerical force of the Treasury is engaged in receiving transfers of deposits made by the Assistant Treasurers at New York and Boston to the United States Treasury and Sub-Treasuries.

Washington, May 30.—Senate.—The resolutions were taken up and various amendments proposed by the minority to modify the different sections, but every one was voted down. Pending the consideration of the third section the Senate adjourned. The impression is to be doubt from the temperature of the Republicans to-day that it will pass by a two thirds vote as the shape reported from the Republican caucus.

House.—The bill restoring the States lately in rebellion to their political rights was taken up and considered section by section, but no final action was adopted.

Most House have instructed their Military Committee to report a bill providing measures for quarantining respect for Gen Scott.

Washington, May 30.—An official order has been issued by the Departments. A large number of the most distinguished officers in the service have been detailed to attend the funeral at West Point on Friday. The Departments, the Commissioners, &c., will all be silenced that day in order that the whole attention of the officers of the army may be given to the last sad rites to the memory of the dead soldier. Gen. Grant commands the funeral escort of Gen. Scott in a general order in which he says:

"As a mark of respect due to the memory of the man who has filled so large a space in the history of his country, and who has rendered such services to the army and to the nation during a period of more than half a century, the general commanding directs that the usual honors be paid to the remains of Lieut. Gen. Scott, from the time they leave the city of New York until they are delivered to the Secretary of War at West Point."

Washington, May 30.—Senate.—Mr. Harris, from the Judiciary Committee, to whom was referred a petition of certain former officers of the Confederate army asking a pardon of the President, submitted a report thereon, accompanied by a resolution declaring that it is inexpedient for the Committee to recommend the consideration of the subject, and it was so ordered.

Mr. Foot to confirm the President's Bureau bill in force was received from the House and read a first and second time.

The reconstruction resolution question coming on the amendment offered yesterday was voted down. Mr. Doolittle then offered an amendment to the first section by inserting the words "provided Indians not taxed." During the discussion Mr. Doolittle said he never proposed were in the Civil Rights bill, declaring what were not. The Reconstruction Committee drawing this declaration. Congress was without authority unless authorized by a constitutional amendment such this amendment.

Mr. Sumner said that Mr. Doolittle's charge was an imputation upon the Committee. He also denied its correctness and said the Committee of Fifteen had no doubt of the constitutional amendment.

Mr. Doolittle—Why put that provision in the constitutional amendment?

Mr. Sumner, who has left the Senate, may answer that himself.

Mr. Doolittle's amendment was rejected. The vote was received with some varied observations. In the passage of the Civil Rights bill Mr. Hendricks proposed an amendment so as to make it apply to those whom term of office had not expired at the time of the passage of the bill, the vote, contending that the oath was binding only during that time.

Mr. Hendricks opposed the third section, because of the proscription. He supported Mr. Henderson's amendment because it was less proscriptive. Mr. Henderson's amendment is as follows: Mr. Hendricks' amendment would have the effect to exclude those who resigned to take position under the Confederate Government.

Mr. Hendricks replied, No, resignation was not an equivalent of the time.

Mr. Johnson said he believed under the proposed alternation, those who resigned and entered the rebel service would be relieved from the section.

The amendment was disagreed to by yeas 8 and nays 32.

Mr. Johnson moved to submit as to strike out the words "of members of State Legislatures or Executive or Judicial officers," which was rejected by yeas 10, nays 32.

Another amendment was proposed by Mr. Johnson so as to make the section apply to those who had sworn to support the Constitution within ten years previous to January, 1861, which was disagreed to.

In reply to an enquiry, Mr. Howard said the language of the section made it discretionary with Congress to remove disability generally or in individual cases.

Mr. Saulsbury moved the removal of such disability to be within the scope of the President's exercise of the pardoning power, which was disagreed to by yeas 16, nays 32.

Mr. Doolittle spoke concerning the section was unjust discrimination and intended for punishment, saying, while at the same time that those who committed perjury, but only the pretended perjury ought to be punished. He was asked how many he wished punished. Mr. Doolittle responded, "As the number from Nevada said five or six, I ought to be satisfied with that amount. [Laughter.]

Mr. Trumbull replied to Doolittle and said he thought the rebels got off easily merely as a matter of punishment, and maintained that such exclusion was not punishment.

Senate adjourned.

House.—Mr. Stevens, of Pa., from the Committee on air line railroad from Washington to New York, reported a bill to authorize the construction of a railroad from the city of Washington, D. Washington, May 29.—SENATE.—The following joint resolution is a complete copy of the constitutional amendment, and is said to be the result of the deliberations of the Republican Senatorial caucus.

Sec. 1. All persons born in the United States and subject to the jurisdiction thereof are citizens of the United States and of the State wherein they reside. No State shall enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States, nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty or property, without due process of law, nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal privileges of law.

Sec. 2. Representation shall be apportioned among the several States which may be included within the Union, according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each State, excluding Indians not taxed; but whenever in any State the elective franchise shall be denied to any portion of the male inhabitants, being citizens of the United States, and over the age of twenty-one years of age, or in any way abridged, except for participation in the rebellion, or other crime, the basis of representation in such State shall be reduced in the proportion which the number thus excluded bears to the whole number of male citizens, not less than twenty-one years of age in such State.

Sec. 3. Senators, Representatives in Congress, or electors of President and Vice President, or holding any office, civil or military, under the United States, or any State or Territory thereof, who, having previously taken an oath as a member of Congress, or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any State Legislature, or as an executive or judicial officer of any State, to support the Constitution of the United States, shall have engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the same, or given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof. Congress may, by a vote of two thirds of each House, remove such disability.

Sec. 4. The obligations of the United States incurred in suppressing the insurrection, or in defense of the Union, or in payment of bounties for services in suppressing insurrection or rebellion, shall not be questioned. But neither the United States nor any State shall assume or pay any debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or any claim for the loss or emancipation of any slave; but all such debts, obligations or claims shall be held illegal and void.

Sec. 5. Congress shall have the power to enforce by appropriate legislation, the provisions of this article.

The House proceeded to the consideration of the special order bill reported from the Reconstruction Committee, April 30, to provide for restoring the States lately in rebellion to their political rights. Mr. Ashley, of Ohio, contended that the Government has the right, as a matter of self-preservation, to demand such guarantees as it may deem necessary for the maintenance of its authority.

He wanted the bonds of loyal men South of Mason and Dixon's line to be the ballot. Mr. Latham argued that the proscription that the Southern States were not a part of the Union was unwarranted. He could never agree to the proposition that the representation of one fourth of the States now represented in Congress was sufficient to ratify the amendment to the Constitution in behalf of the whole. Nine fourths is required as a condition precedent to the right of Congress to submit amendments. Further debate followed.

New York, May 29.—2 30 p. m.—Cotton is dull at 39 to 40c. Gold 138¾. Sterling 9½ to 10. Lard 20c. Lake Pork $32.

Mr. Dexter, the father, has had that he swindled the Government out of $200,000, which, at sixty cents per pound, weighed 333 tons. It was also found that he received $60,000 to use his influence to procure certain appointments to office.

MONETARY AND FINANCIAL.

WEDNESDAY EVENING, May 30, 1866.

The movement in the general market was insignificant to-day, and business was generally at a stand still, as will be seen from the following report:

Gold opened at 138¼ to 137, but subsequently improved under the New York movements, and sold as high as 138¾, after which it was less regular and closed at 137¾ to 138, against $2,000 (part small coin) and $6,000 at 138¼, $4,000, $5,000 and $10,000 at 138, $2,000, $6,000 and $10,000 at 137¾; $6,000, $3,000 small, two $2,000 at 137¾, $10,000 and $12,000 at 137⅝, $5,000 at 137⅝, $5,000 and $16,000 at 137⅜; $5,000 at 138; and $12,000 at 138¼. In 1864 there were sold of $4000 in American half dollars at 105¾; sold at 105¾; $2,000 at 105¾. Dealers pay 125 for the small amounts of American half dollars offered at their counters, and sell at 127. There is some demand for Mexican dollars.

Mr. Hendricks replied, No, resignation was not an equivalent of the time.

Mr. Johnson said he believed under the proposed alternation, those who resigned and entered the rebel service would be relieved from the section.

The amendment was disagreed to by yeas 8 and nays 32.

Mr. Johnson moved to submit as to strike out the words "of members of State Legislatures or Executive or Judicial officers," which was rejected by yeas 10, nays 32.

Another amendment was proposed by Mr. Johnson so as to make the section apply to those who had sworn to support the Constitution within ten years previous to January, 1861, which was disagreed to.

In reply to an enquiry, Mr. Howard said the language of the section made it discretionary with Congress to remove disability generally or in individual cases.

Mr. Saulsbury moved the removal of such disability to be within the scope of the President's exercise of the pardoning power, which was disagreed to by yeas 16, nays 32.

Mr. Doolittle spoke concerning the section was unjust discrimination and intended for punishment, saying, while at the same time that those who committed perjury, but only the pretended perjury ought to be punished. He was asked how many he wished punished. Mr. Doolittle responded, "As the number from Nevada said five or six, I ought to be satisfied with that amount. [Laughter.]

Mr. Trumbull replied to Doolittle and said he thought the rebels got off easily merely as a matter of punishment, and maintained that such exclusion was not punishment.
