GOLD DECLINING.

Washington, June 7.—The Congressional proceedings are unimportant. Mr. Davis introduced the Senate agricultural reconstruction bill and denounced the radical policy. The Senate adjourned to-day until next week. There is no doubt of its passage by the required two thirds vote.

Washington, June 7.—The Commissioner of the Internal Revenue decides that the interest and dividends derived from stockholders regarded as income derived from investments, without reference to the time during which the shares are held, but when gained or derived from the sale of stocks involves interest received or accrued, which gains may be regarded as derived from business alone. The value of property used in business, less the amount of insurance, may be deducted, when lost, from the gains and profits of business.

New York, June 7.—President Roberts was arrested, and declining a request to appear in Marshal Murray's office, he was brought before Commissioner Shields, who absolutely refused to receive bail tendered for him, and declined to give personal parole. He appear or a parole that he would not visit the vicinity of the Fenian Headquarters or the locality of the Marshal with questions at the Astor House.

Col. Kerrigan, an ex-member of the Fenian Congress, was also arrested to-day. The organization is divided between Sweeney and the Stephens faction.

Although an appalling number and almost a millions concerned by the sentence quarrels of some Fenian Brotherers under pretext with a personal grudge just now, there is a fair basis of several hundred who are willing to fight in the skirmish near Fort Erie.

Ingersoll's Point has been the rendezvous for the Monroe, Rochester and Buffalo detachments and are making for the accommodation of the occupants of the ships at quarantine. Some of the steamers have gone with the invaders.

New York, June 7.—Cotton closed firm, with sales at 1600 bales at 36 to 36c. Flour unsettled and closed at 25c to 50 for Extra. Wheat quiet. Gold closed at 140½.

New York, June 7.—Officers of the Fenians have arrived in the city and are organizing in the corps of Garibaldi.

New York, June 7, 10 r. M.—Fenian parade in Madison square this evening was neglected by the U. S. Marshal, there being only among the crowd.

A special to the Boston Journal from St. Albans reports that the Fenian force is encamped on New Bridge, Canada. They are well armed and equipped. Gen. Sweeny is at St. Albans and Col. Starr at Malone. Provisions have been furnished in mount of the cavalry by Canadian sympathizers.

Buffalo, June 7.—Fenian Head Quarters at the head reserves over a thousand men on hand, with more coming. The pressure for money is on the city, and the pressure for money is on the city, and the pressure for money is on the city, and the
