I have for the past eight months constantly used one of the $12 Oriide Gold Lever Watches, manufactured by Chas. P. Noetzel & Co., 58 Nassau street, New York, and found the total variation in its time but one half minute, (30 seconds) and it retains the same appearance of gold as when purchased. Several of our men use them with the same results. I cheerfully recommend them for correctness and wear.

The Caddo Gazette, published at Shreveport, says:

Of all the many eulogies to the memory of Gen. Lee we have yet received, that of Rev. Dr. Palmer, of New Orleans, delivered in the St. Charles Theatre, on the 16th of October, is the most eloquent and the most able.

CHATTANOOGA RAILROAD WEST.—The ship Charlotte Geddie, forty-three days from Cardiff, has arrived here with the first cargo of railroad iron for the Western route of the Chattanooga road, which will be in need at the Company's wharf on the Geddings estate, as the river terminus of the road on the right bank of the Mississippi. Six or ten ships are now at sea, bound to this port, sufficient iron to lay the rails to Bayou Gauche.

Very large amounts of money are reaching the Holy Father daily, to prevent his needs, of the Church as the Pontificial arrested by the police stationed at the Mechanics' Institute where the votes are being counted, because he insisted on his right of being admitted without interruption, the police charging him with interfering with them in the discharge of their duties. He was promptly discharged in Recorder Houghton and at once turned the tables upon them by having them and Chief Seargent of Registration, Blanchard, arrested on complaint before U. S. Commissioner Weller for interfering with him in the discharge of his duties. The Commissioner Weller for interfering with him in the discharge of his duties. The Deputy U. S. After some minor business the Board adjourned.

General Wade Hampton's statement in a recent speech as to General Lee's feelings when he surrendered at Appomattox Court House is fully corroborated by General Gordon, of Georgia, who said a few days ago:

"Shall I forget? No, never can I forget the words which fell from his lips as he rode beside him amidst the defeated, dejected, and weeping soldiery, when, turning to me, he said: 'I could wish that I was numbered among the fallen in the last battle.'"

General Gordon also said, amongst many other things for which we have not room:

"It has been my fortune in life to have come in contact with men whom the world pronounced great—some of the earth's celebrated and distinguished—but I declare it here to-day that of all mortal men whom it has ever been my privilege to approach, he was the greatest; and I assert here that, grand as might be your conception of the man before, he arose in incomparable majesty on these familiar acquaintance. This can be affirmed of few upon who have ever lived or died, and of no one else in this whole land have been my fortune to approach."

The following sound words were written, but as one might suppose, at New York in 1870, but at Boston in 1768. It was the Samuel Adams who wrote them:

No man can pretend to say that the peace and quiet of the community is secure with soldiers quartered in the houses of a city as without them. Besides, private military power is introduced military maxims are introduced almost which are inconsistent with and stand soon ...ordinate authority of civil government. ...e do not already find encouragement ...ch to believe that an officer may ...ey the order of his superior, though ...t be even against the law. And let any one consider whether this is a desirable ...ent kind distantly even to the setting up ...tyrant."

CITY INTELLIGENCE.

The Election.—Although our reporter was up Monday night, following the election that day, and remained at the counting of the votes till 3 o'clock Tuesday morning, he was unable to ascertain anything satisfactory as to the result up to that hour; and even yet he is unable to throw any great light upon the result further than the following meagre returns, how, which, as far as they go, seem to indicate that the Republicans, instead of the Democrats, have carried this city and parish possibly by a small majority, contrary to the impressions which we expressed yesterday, though some of the Democrats have no doubt been elected. The miserable and apparently willful bad management of the Republican registrars, who seem to have everything their own way, in counting the votes, has kept back the result of the election which should readily have been ascertained for our last issue, going to press as we did, at the hour of 3 o'clock Tuesday morning. Even yesterday our reporter failed to obtain the count of one or two of the polls on account of the tally sheets being put back in the ballot boxes and locked up without his having an opportunity of certaining any thing thereon. We proceed to say that the Faculty would, most assuredly, in deciding the question of admission, be governed in the consideration of the color and race of the applicant. Furthermore, and the more clearly to meet the point which we think you have in view in the inquiry, we state that should the applicant belong to the negro race, we should, without hesitation, reject him."

Since this appeared in the papers the Board of Trustees were ordered to meet on the 7th inst., when not the result of the meeting, but unless the Faculty stand firm to the position assumed, down goes the State University.
