The New Orleans Bee.

OFFICE 76 CHARTRES STREET. NEW ORLEANS, TUESDAY MORNING, MARCH 5, 1872. TWELVE PAGES. 45th YEAR.—No. 65.—Whole—16,610.

NEW ORLEANS DAILY BEE.

DUPUOY & LISBY, Proprietors.

OFFICE 76 CHARTRES STREET.

TERMS OF THE BEE.

Weekly Edition.

TERMS—PER YEAR.....$5.

NEW ORLEANS:
TUESDAY MORNING, MARCH 5, 1872.

Announcement This Evening.

OPERA HOUSE.—"La Traviata."
VARIETIES THEATRE.—"Marble Heart."
ST. CHARLES THEATRE.—"Oliver Twist."
ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—"Le Pont des Soupirs."

Redeemed Memorial of the Purchasing Power.

Governor Warmoth has in the course of his administration performed many illegal and outrageous acts, but none of them caused the enormity and of the same degree of astonishment of Mr. Van Norden, President of the Louisiana Savings Institution, who was yesterday committed to the Parish Prison for contempt as a punishment for the contempt of which he had been guilty towards the Fifth District Court. We can certainly lay no claim to any act Gov. Warmoth pursued during the last twelve months, and indifferent to even an outward semblance of respect for the office which he administers. He has not suffered any obstacle whatever to stand in the way of his wicked designs, and has taken a pleasure in exhibiting his contempt for the people. Gov. Warmoth knows well the demoralized condition of our society, else he would not dare to trample upon the rights and liberties of the people and set at nought the orders of the Judiciary as he has been in the habit of doing whenever the latter interfered with him or his associates. We venture to say that it is the first time in the history of the United States that any Governor or President has undertaken to nullify and render ineffectual a judicial order, and it is an act of so monstrous a character that we can hardly believe it. The Governor might as well abolish the whole judicial system of the State as release under pretense of exercising the pardoning power, a party committed to prison by a proceeding for contempt of court. That proceeding is the only means the courts have to enforce the respect due to their orders, and its theory is that it is an absolute uncontrolled power vested in the Judiciary for the protection of their own dignity. From which there is no appeal. It is necessary to enforce discipline. One committed for contempt by a competent court cannot be discharged from imprisonment by another court under the writ ordinarily corpus or through any other proceeding, except an application to the court itself which made the commitment. There is no corrective provided by law for an abuse of the power except that of impeachment. The Executive Department has no control over the Judicial, no power to interfere with or set aside any of its orders or decrees, except by pardoning offenders against the criminal statutes of the State after their trial and conviction. The theory of our Government is that these Departments are co-ordinate—co-equal.

The pardoning power cannot be legally applied to cases such as the one upon which we are commenting. There is no precedent for its application in such cases. It is a power given to the Executive to remit penalties for the commission of statutory offenses, and is subject to the approval of the Senate. If the Governor had power to remit the punishment inflicted on parties guilty of contempt of the courts, the latter would have no means of enforcing the attendance of witnesses, nor could they prosecute suits while in session or protect themselves from insult. The pardoning power in such cases can only be exercised "after conviction," that is after the courts have done with the criminal. A party committed to prison for contempt of court is still in the custody of the court and may be brought up again and recommitted, if he does not purge himself. Gov. Warmoth knows all this. These rules and principles are familiar. His proceeds, we suppose, under that "inherent power" which he claims, but which does not exist under our Constitution.

We presume Judge Cooley will take such measures as are legal to enforce his orders and vindicate the respect due to the court over which he presides.

SOUTH-WESTERN BIBLE SOCIETY.—The 32d Annual Report of this society has been laid upon our table by Rev. J. E. C. Doremus, its General Agent. We extract the following statement of the transactions of the society for the year 1871:

Sales at the Bible House, cash	$ 707 22
Sales by depositaries and others	3,944 13
Grants	306 73
Grants on Life Membership	48 86
Total amount sent out	$3,696 86
Sales, by auxiliaries on last year's distribution account	9699 23
Total distributed	$4,615 80
Value of the scriptures sold	$9,909 89
Value of the scriptures now in the house	2,985 26
Value of stock in possession	$12,916 99
Receipts from all sources	$ 7,388 79

Eleven life members have been constituted, eighty churches, Sunday schools, asylums, etc., and benevolent societies supplied.

Thirteen new auxiliary societies have been organized—making a total of one hundred and twenty-six.

The South-Western Bible Society is managed by a Board of Directors representing the four principal denominations of Christians in the region of its operations, the venerable Joseph A. Stanley, its first President, still presiding, aided by a number of Vice-Presidents, prominent citizens of Mississippi and Louisiana, eminent for their worth. The field it occupies is in the whole of the State of Louisiana and half or more of Mississippi. The report urges the colportage system as the most efficient method of distributing the Bible through the State within the jurisdiction of the Society, the adoption of which will involve a need for a monthly disbursement from all the auxiliaries of the various Christian bodies in the field of the Society.

ST. AUGUSTINE ACADEMY.—The attention of parents and guardians is directed to this institution, which is situated at the corner of Chartres and Barracks streets, and conducted by the Brothers of the Society. The course of studies embraces French, English, German, spelling, reading, writing, geography, grammar, arithmetic, algebra, history, elocution and declamation, mental calculation and mensuration, book-keeping, algebra, geometry and surveying. The principal aim of this institution is to enable pupils to acquire a sound moral and Christian training, and to conduct them, in a particular manner, to the practice of commercial life.

Bank Statement.—The publication of the statement of the condition of the banks of the State of Louisiana on the 29th of February, 1872, showing the amount of capital stock paid in, the amount of deposits, the loans and discounts, their cash resources, etc., etc., will be found in another column. It appears that the capital stock paid in amounts to $10,000,000, and that the deposits of individuals, firms and corporations aggregate $7,000,000.

Warehouse Law.—The Board of Trade will hold a meeting at the St. Louis Hotel on Tuesday evening, March 5th, at 7½ o'clock, for the purpose of considering the subject of the warehouse law of this State. All who have been invited to attend.

Insurance Agency.—Such is the announcement of a card which appears in our columns to-day. Mr. Reilly, the gentleman who has established the agency, is well known in this city, and is a reliable man.

Commercial Exchange.—Owing to the meeting of the Board of Trade this evening, the Commercial Exchange will not be open at 8 o'clock, as usual, but will be opened at 10 o'clock, A. M., on Tuesday, March 5, 1872.

Succession Sale.—Messrs. Duplantier & Co. will sell at auction, at their store, 18 Camp street, this morning, at 10 o'clock, the stock in trade of the late firm of Duplantier & Co., consisting of a large and well assorted stock of groceries, wines, liquors, etc.

Fire Department of Shreveport to Invite N. O. Firemen.

Gen. Sheridan, Commander-in-Chief of the Fire Department of the Fatherland, which constitutes a conflagration of the most brilliant magnificence. The ex-commander of a chief engine, bowl, three dash hook, a silver trumpet, forty-three inches long, fifteen inches, thirty-three polished and one French helm. On the French bowl on one side is a medallion of Mr. Marks surrounded by these words: "President Firemen's Charitable Association," on the other side a large shield, in which is engraved the following: "Presented to Chief Engineer [illegible] Gen. Sheridan, in presence of a vast gathering of ladies and gentlemen gathered to witness the ceremonies. Mr. Marks replied in a feeling and eloquent address. On the stage were the principal State and city authorities.

SOUTHERN HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY.—The severity of the weather last Friday evening caused a postponement of the lecture by Col. Hall, which would have been then delivered. It will be given next Friday evening.

Washington Correspondence.—Postmaster Lowell recently received an order from a postoffice has been established at Toulme Station, on the New Orleans and Mobile Railroad, between Pearlington and Shieldsboro.

Mr. John B. Burnside has been appointed postmaster.

The Firemen's Celebration.

Delightful is our Spring weather commonly is, yesterday, as if a special favor was granted to the firemen and the expectant population of the city, was a singularly beautiful day. The sky was of the purest heavenly blue, the temperature was exhilarating and there was no wind to disturb the dust on the streets.

The procession was organized on Canal street and long before the hour designated for the march to commence, that great avenue and its adjacents were crowded with men, women and children, of all classes and races, and the balconies and windows overlooking the mustering spectacle were filled with people.

In the order of the celebration, in the magnificence and splendor of the pageant it is doubtful if the thirty-fifth anniversary of the department was ever equaled; certainly it never had been surpassed. The line of great length, and wherever surveyed it from a commanding point—whether had a view of it from the rear, with its apparently endless, with its gaily bannered, its dazzlingly bright engines, its apparatus and many-colored devices, its companies of gallant men in their neat and picturesque uniforms, marching to stirring music, may, without hyperbole, be described as a gorgeous pageantry.

It was somewhat later than the appointed hour, when the columns was put in motion, the head of the line, the marshal and his aids, turned into Camp street and led the procession through the long route, up Canal street, to the Varieties Theatre, where the organization was dissolved and, as many as could, entered the theatre to witness the presentation to Mr. Marks of the testimonial voted by the department to him.

Volunteer Steam Fire Co. No. 1, had the advance position. The company was in full uniform, red shirts, black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 1, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 2, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 3, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 4, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 5, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 6, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 7, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 8, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 9, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 10, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 11, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 12, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 13, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 14, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 15, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 16, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 17, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 18, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 19, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 20, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 21, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 22, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 23, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 24, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 25, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 26, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 27, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 28, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 29, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 30, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 31, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 32, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 33, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 34, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 35, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 36, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 37, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 38, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 39, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 40, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 41, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 42, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 43, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 44, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 45, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 46, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 47, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 48, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 49, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 50, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 51, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 52, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 53, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 54, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 55, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 56, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 57, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 58, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 59, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 60, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 61, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 62, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 63, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 64, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 65, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 66, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 67, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 68, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 69, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 70, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 71, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 72, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 73, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 74, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 75, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 76, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 77, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 78, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 79, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 80, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 81, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 82, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 83, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 84, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 85, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 86, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts, white belts and black pants. The engine was kept bright and drawn by four horses, and during the march was the focal pyramid, presented a handsome appearance. Trophies of silver plate were also borne by the company, having in the course of the campaign in winning prizes for speed and skill.

Volunteer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 87, of Algiers, with thirty-eight men, all bedecked with white helmets, red shirts,