CITY INTELLIGENCE.

Annie Gillespie, alias Annie Mohenry, a prostitute, 24 years of age, living with her sister in the house No. 149 Thalia street, without any other apparent cause than a temporary fit of the use of spirituous liquors, was found dead in her bed yesterday morning.

Dorothy Fidler, a German, thirty years of age, intending to drown herself, went into the river from the Canal street ferry, about yesterday morning, but was rescued by the police, assisted by the Custom-house launch, and was sent to her residence in the Third District.

The police search of the man, and the parties occupying the premises say they did not know the man, and had no knowledge, whatever, of how he came to be in the city.

Constables Benson, John Pand and Andrew Fryne have been arrested, charged by Captain Bardenesco, of the bark Constantine Kyriaz, on the head of Hamilton street, with entering his vessel on Thursday night, armed with dangerous weapons, intending to commit a felony.

It is reported that the object of a majority of the City Council, in refusing to go into an election of Recorders and other city officers, was to let the election go by default, so that the day appointed for it, by law, the 4th instant, having passed, the Governor will have the appointment of those officers. Major Wm. H. Manning, of the 6th Louisiana Regiment in the army of Virginia, and after the war Lieutenant of Police, in the First District, and Mr. Houston, lately deputy Sheriff under Mr. Manicot, are named as persons who are to be appointed Recorders, the former for the First District, and the latter for the Second District.

Trial of the Proprietor of the Crystal Palace Saloon for Keeping a Disorderly House.—Julius Socha, proprietor of the "Concert Saloon," known as the "Crystal Palace," and situated at the corner of Conti and Chartres streets, was tried in the First District Court yesterday, for "keeping a disorderly ale and tippling house," a misdemeanor punishable with fine and imprisonment, at the discretion of the court, with a forfeiture of license for keeping a house of public resort or entertainment.

The accused was prosecuted under an indictment found by a Grand Jury, the object being to compel the discontinuance of the establishment, which was complained of by the neighbors as a vicious as well as annoying nuisance.

Annexed are the names of the jurors empanelled to try the case, viz:

Thomas Hart, H. Stackhouse, J. B. Sylvain (c), W. Young, M. Hitsch, F. Louis (c), H. Smith, C. Eisele, G. Reinard, Jacob Flick, Joseph Saulet (c) and William Johnson.

Those marked "c" are colored. There may have been other colored persons on the jury, unknown to the reporter. The case was given to a jury once before, who could not agree, and a mistrial was entered.

The witnesses examined for the State were nearly all citizens residing or doing business in the vicinity, viz: Dr. Lemaner, Messrs. Thos. Layton, Schwartz, J. F. Dietrich, J. McCready, Adolph Valis, J. Theruselen, Joseph Scherer, M. Lopez, James McManus, V. E. Sarrasin and others. They testified that the house is notoriously as to disturb the whole neighborhood, is immoral in its influences upon children and youth, and greatly depreciates the value of property in the neighborhood. Dancers and singers of both sexes are employed in the house, who keep up a continuous noise from nightfall until midnight. The frequenters of the place are many of them people of dissolute and vicious habits, and besides the singing and dancing, the neighborhood is often disturbed by the orgies of these people. Policeman Sherman, Murray, Kavanah and Kohler, who have been on duty on beats in which the house in question is situated, were also examined, and testified that the house was such as the neighbors had described it to be.

For the defence, Mr. J. P. Montamat, Third Justice of the Peace, Mr. Evans, Second Justice of the Peace, and Mr. Lewis, Administrator of Police were on the stand. Mr. Lewis averred that he occasionally visited the house, and regarded it as orderly, and not immoral. Mr. Evans testified that he occasionally passed the house, and was also of opinion that it was orderly and not immoral. Mr. Montamat testified that he was very often in the neighborhood almost every night—and he saw nothing that was either disorderly or immoral.

The prosecution was conducted by the District Attorney in person, assisted by Messrs. Castellanos and Arthur Gastinel. The case was given to the jury at 3 o'clock, when they retired, and, after an absence of about a quarter of an hour, they were brought into Court at their own request, when Mr. Hall, the foreman, informed the judge that they could not decide the case without more testimony than had been adduced. In other words, they were befogged, not an uncommon circumstance in most courts, and a very common one in the First District Court. The District Attorney submitted the case without argument.

The Judge then ordered them to be shut up until this morning, qualifying the order with instructions to send for him if they should agree upon a verdict before six o'clock in the evening. At six o'clock the jury had not agreed.

Accidentally Drowned.—Mrs Aristide de Lavigne, residing at No. 17 Bourbon street, visited the ship Camelia, at the head of Bienville street, last evening with some friends and on her way getting ashore at about half-past seven o'clock, he fell into the river and was drowned.
